A MUCH NEEDED PINT

There is no pain for Ian Middel, right, as he and 376 others turned out Tuesday for the opening of the annual spring blood donor clinic in the Anglican Church parish hall on Sutherland Avenue. With Mr. Middel is Josie Gallagher, a member of the travelling Red Cross team from Vancouver. Organizers are asking for 1,300 pints of blood to be donated at the clinic, which ends Thursday. Hours of operation are from 1 to 4 p.m. and 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. To maintain the spirit of competition, the Olga Horn Memorial Trophy will be competed for by business firms with 25 or more employees who turn out the biggest percentage of eligible donors, and the Jaycees Trophy for service clubs. For those in need of transportation, a ride to and from the clinic will be provided by phoning 762-3320 during clinic hours. (Courier Photo)

Quebec's Labor Shakes Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP) — Organized labor in Quebec put aside internal differences Tuesday night to mass on Parliament Hill the biggest demonstration yet against the federal government's role in the Montreal postal dispute. Represented among an estimated 1,500 demonstrators were the Quebec Federation of Labor and the rival Confederation of National Trade Unions. Placards in the crowd proclaimed the presence of the Council of Postal Unions, affiliated with the QFL. QFL general secretary Fernand Daoust said the rival organizations have come together in a common front to support Montreal's unemployed mail-truck drivers in their three-month fight with the government. The drivers, ex-employees of former postal contractor G. Lapalme Inc., are affiliated through their union with the CNTU.

Mr. Daoust said there are no grounds for conflict between the QFL and the CNTU in the issue. The QFL, he said, supported the drivers' demand that they be permitted to work for the post office as a bargaining unit separate from the existing postal unions. He said the government had offered unacceptable, "humiliating" terms in negotiations with the union over possible post office employment for the men. "We hope this demonstration will show the government the determination of Quebec workers to get this whole thing settled," he said. The demonstration was without serious incident. An effigy of Treasury Board President C. M. Drury was burned in front of the Peace Tower. And there was a brief scuffle in which the CNTU Montreal chairman, Michel Chartrand, grabbed a tape recorder from an Ottawa reporter.

Kelowna Blood Clinic 'Flow' About Average Officials Say

Officials for the annual Kelowna spring blood donor clinic, which opened Tuesday and concludes Thursday, say opening day attendance was about average. Mrs. Richard Stirling, chairman of the clinic, said the 377 persons who turned out to donate a pint of blood compares with 457 the same day last fall, regarded as "high" and 268 last spring. Last spring's number on opening day was termed low. Hours of operation for the clinic, in the Anglican Church parish hall on Sutherland Avenue, are between 1 and 4 p.m. and 6:30 and 9:30 p.m. until Thursday. Organizers are looking for 1,300 pints for use by the Canadian Red Cross Society. This year for the competition again this year is the Olga Horn Memorial Trophy for business firms with 25 employees or more who turn out the biggest percentage of eligible donors, and the Jaycees Trophy for service clubs.

B.C. Pipefitters Join Lockout List

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Plumbers, Pipefitters and Steamfitters Union Tuesday became the eighth union to be affected by British Columbia's growing shutdown of $200,000,000 worth of construction. The Construction Labor Relations Association locked the plumbers out at 8 a.m. but a union spokesman said the lockout would be only "partially successful."

"There are only 89 plumbing contractors working through the CLRA at the moment and we have 274 contractors on our list," the spokesman said. CLRA president C. J. Connaghan served 72-hour lockout notice on plumbers last week after the union turned down an offer of a 14 per cent wage increase over two years.

Rather Large Bang Began Apollo Crisis

HOUSTON (AP) — "A rather large bang" and rapidly falling oxygen pressure and electrical power told the Apollo 13 astronauts they were in serious trouble 202,000 miles from home, the spacemen say. "My concern was increasing all the time," mission commander James Lovell said Tuesday. "It went from 'I wonder what this is going to do to the moon landing' to 'I wonder if we can get back home again.'"

Lovell, Fred Haise and John Swigert told of their brush with death in space during a televised and broadcast news conference.

The astronauts didn't know what caused the No. 2 oxygen tank in their service module to explode, but that they thought the cause would be discovered and "rectified for future flights." "I foresee that we can get this incident over with and can charge ahead," Lovell said. A board investigating the accident met for the first time Tuesday night, hours after the board chairman, Dr. Edgar Cortright, had announced the names of other members.

They include Neil Armstrong, first man to walk the moon, seven officials of the space agency, the air force and Atomic Energy Commission, legal counsel, a technical support man, three observers and liaison men for Congress and the press.

"It is my hope we can reach an adequate, effective decision within three or four weeks," said Cortright. The explosion crippled the spacecraft, forced cancellation of its moon landing and imperiled the lives of the astronauts for four days while they fought to bring their craft back to earth safely. When the trouble started, Swigert said, "I felt a vibration accompanying the bang—not a large vibration, a shudder."

After the warming systems were off. "I think just prior to re-entry it was down to about 38 degrees," Lovell said. "LIKE A FREEZER" "I recall that we went in there to get some hot dogs one day and it was like reaching into the freezer for the food."

As the astronauts approached earth, they jettisoned the service module, the supply section of the spacecraft where the explosion occurred. They saw and photographed the damage.

'Earth Day' Held In U.S.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Earth Day is a cleaned pond, a buried auto, a college teacher. It is thousands of Americans seeking to understand the ills of their environment and learn how they can be corrected. Earth Day is today.

The unprecedented event focuses attention in more than 2,000 communities across the United States on pollution problems, both local and national. In addition, many groups scheduled massive clean-ups.

At the same time, some corporations and large businesses singled out for criticism by anti-pollution groups took advertisements and planned talks at various school and community groups to give their side of the story.

Many activities were designed to highlight one of four areas: water pollution, air pollution, the automobile and general litter.

Hundreds of motorists planned to forsake their automobiles for the day to protest pollution caused by the internal combustion engine. New York Mayor John V. Lindsay planned to ride to appointments in an electric car.

Traffic bans were scheduled in parts of many cities including New York and Philadelphia.

WOMEN PICKET
Water pollution was the concern of a group of women from Canada and the United States who joined forces Tuesday to picket on Zug Island in the Detroit River. They protested alleged pollution by the Great Lakes Steel Corp.

Reynolds Metals Co. said it would send trucks to 18 colleges in 14 states to pick up aluminum cans collected during "trash-ins." They will pay for the cans.

Dead ducks, suffocated by oil slicks, will be dumped in front of the interior department offices in Washington.

Earth Day grew from a suggestion by senator Gaylord Nelson (Dem. Wis.), who proposed a nationwide "teach-in" on environmental problems after observing the support mobilized for the anti-war campaign last November.

The spokesman said the act Nixon signed April 3 is considered to be within the laws already established by the 1956 Geneva convention on the territorial sea and contiguous zone and the 1954 agreement on the prevention of pollution of the sea by oil.

The act, signed only a few days before Canada proposed legislation to extend its sovereignty and anti-pollution jurisdiction in Arctic waters, is less than specific, however, on the extent of coastal territory it covers.

Experts associated with drafting the new law said Wednesday that it refers only to the contiguous zone, which is defined as the zone "established or to be established by international agreement or accord."

At present the contiguous zone is generally defined as 12 miles out to sea.

The administration, however, has before Congress proposed legislation of much wider scope that would extend all of the anti-pollution measures now in force in the territorial sea to the 12-mile zone.

Blood To Flow In Quebec, If...
VILLE-MARIE, Que. (CP) — "Blood will run in the streets of Montreal and Quebec City" if the separatist Parti Quebecois takes power in the April 29 provincial election, René Caouette said Tuesday night.

Grits Deny Any Restriction Placed On Auditor General

OTTAWA (CP) — The government denied Tuesday that it has criticized Auditor-General Maxwell Henderson for carrying out his duties. But cabinet ministers said the opposition is jeopardizing Mr. Henderson's objectivity by dragging him into partisan politics.

Treasury Board President C. M. Drury said the Commons public accounts committee, under Conservative Chairman Alf Hales, had instructed Mr. Henderson to judge policies laid down by Parliament. Mr. Drury referred specifically to Mr. Henderson's criticism of spending on the scrapped Northumberland Strait crossing. If Mr. Henderson was asked to give an opinion on matters that had been "thoroughly de-

REVERSE CHANGE
However, Conservatives, New Democrats and Creditists said it is the government that is trying to silence or get rid of Mr. Henderson.

The subject had been simmering for several weeks after Mr. Henderson was criticized by government members following publication last month of his 1969 report. More than 200 items of government spending were raked over the coals in the report.

Non-Confidence Bid Loses

A non-confidence motion by Opposition Leader Robert Stanfield condemned the government for criticizing Mr. Henderson for carrying out his duties according to the law—a charge Mr. Drury and Privy Council President Donald Macdonald denied.

The motion reassured support of "the principle of unfettered parliamentary scrutiny of government expenditures," which Mr. Drury and Mr. Macdonald said they support.

The Conservative motion was defeated 118 to 77 with 57 Conservatives, 14 New Democrats, five Creditists and Independent Perry Ryan (Toronto Spadina) voting against 118 Liberals.

Standing in the 264-seat Commons: Liberal 153, Conservative 72, NDP 23, Creditist 13, vacant 1.

An NDP amendment also went down 118 to 77. Introduced by NDP Leader T. C. Douglas, it commended Mr. Henderson for "drawing Parliament's attention to the improper concession of $180,000,000 to motor-vehicle manufacturers by order-in-council." Liberals contend the tariff rebate—$173,000,000 to Ford Motor Co., the rest to small-parts manufacturers—was proper.

Mr. Stanfield said the prime minister claimed it was wrong of Mr. Henderson to criticize the $180,000,000 rebate—"presumably on the ground that this was a deliberate decision..."

"In other words, what waste is deliberate, the watchdog should be quiet."

"This is quite a principle... I suppose that if horses were put on the payroll as a matter of deliberate policy, this too would be beyond the comment of the auditor-general."

"The distinction between policy and non-policy is not a distinction at all," Mr. Stanfield said. "It is a dodge designed to strip the auditor-general of power without appearing to have removed his power."

The House turns today to a government bill to extend Canada's territorial sea limits to 12 miles from three.

Romanians Say: 'We're Free' Before Assembled Red Leaders

MOSCOW (Reuters) — Romanian leader Nicolae Ceausescu today reaffirmed his country's independent views before an audience of 6,000 top Soviet and world Communist leaders.

The Romanian Communist party chief and head of state was speaking on the second day of a Kremlin meeting to mark today's centenary of the birth of Lenin.

His speech contained both an appeal for differences between parties to be solved in a truly principled manner and an affirmation of the right of all countries to independence and sovereignty.

Tuesday, during Soviet party leader Leonid Brezhnev's opening address to the meeting, Ceausescu conspicuously did not join in the applause at Brezhnev's attacks on Chinese leaders, his defence of the Warsaw pact invasion of Czechoslovakia, and his warning against the development of "nationalism" in the world Communist movement. Without mentioning China, he said that Romania "places at the centre of its foreign policy friendship, co-operation and fraternal alliance with all socialist countries."

NICOLAE CEAEUSESCU... a sovereign state

LONDON PAPERS IN BATTLE

Train Robber's Story A Hot Cake

LONDON (CP) — Two of Britain's most flamboyant newspapers are in a raucous battle over the memoirs of Ronald Biggs, Britain's most-wanted criminal and the last known fugitive of the Great Train Robbery of 1963.

Biggs, a 39-a-week carpenter at the time of the £2,600,000—then $7,800,000—holdup, now is making more money as an author than he ever did as a workman. His wife also has cleaned up on her story for publication.

And the London morning tabloids, the six-month-old Sun and the Sketch, are locked in a big circulation fight to squeeze the most out of the recollections of Biggs, now supposed to be hiding somewhere in Australia.

Between them, Biggs and his wife are reported to have received about $120,000 for their separate stories.

Biggs, 41, has been loose since 1965 when he broke out of Wandsworth prison here. He was among those jailed for long terms. They included Charles Wilson, who also broke out and was picked up a couple of years ago living under a pseudonym at Rigaud, Que.

HARD TO FIND

maine, and their three children. Since then, Biggs has been reported at various places in two hemispheres.

His wife promptly sold her story to London's tabloid Sunday Mirror for a reported £30,000 ($78,000). Acting through intermediaries, Biggs is reported to have received £20,000 ($52,000) from Australian publisher Rupert Murdoch's organization, which includes The Sun here and Australian papers.

The Sun this week started the story with a full front page on what it calls "the scoop of the century" and has been running four full inside pages daily. The Sun has already started

Shooting Sounds Once Again In Streets In Trinidad Capital

PORT OF SPAIN (CP) — Shooting broke out again today in the business district of this Trinidad capital as authorities sought information on the whereabouts of rebellious elements of the island nation's 800-man army.

Three deaths were reported in the Tuesday night violence that grew out of arrests of 14 Black Power movement leaders.

A rebellious soldier was killed by a coast guardman as he tried to flee the army camp six miles from Port of Spain, a 16-year-old youth throwing rocks from a rooftop was felled by a policeman's bullet and a fireman was killed when he was hit in the chest by a fire bomb.

The U.S. Defence department in Washington reported a helicopter carrier, the Guadalcanal, had been dispatched from San Juan, Puerto Rico, "heading in the direction of Trinidad." It declined to give further details. The Guadalcanal normally carries about 2,000 marines and 15 helicopters in addition to its crew.

The violence broke out when police tried to bring the arrested Black Power leaders to the military camp at Tibouron Bay in order to ship them aboard coast guard boats to Nelson Island, a small detention prison off the coast.

But when they arrived at the camp, police were turned back at its gates by army guards and forced to take their prisoners back to town, reports said.

Reports pieced together from witnesses indicated the following chronology of events:

An estimated 200-300 soldiers of the Trinidad and Tobago Regiment sympathetic with the Black Power leaders charged toward the camp gates, but in doing so passed the quarters of the 100-man coast guard, which remained loyal to the government of Prime Minister Eric E. Williams.

A 28-year-old army private was killed in the skirmishing as the rest of the rebels surged out of the camp and headed for the hills around Port of Spain.

Unconfirmed reports said some of the soldiers had commandeered a boat and escaped to the island of Monos, a Trinidad territory off the coast of Venezuela.

In Ottawa the external affairs department reported no Canadian had been affected by the rioting. Stones were thrown through the windows of the offices of the Royal Bank of Canada and the Bank of Nova Scotia, but it was believed this was part of the general rioting and not aimed directly at Canadian establishments.

NAMES IN NEWS

Continued Herbicide Use For Review In Canada

Continued use of the herbicide 2-4-DT will be reviewed, Agriculture Minister H. A. Olson said Tuesday in the Commons. But he said the weed-killer is used in limited areas for specific purposes and no residue has been found in food.

He was replying to Alf Gleave, NDP-Saskatoon - Biggar, who noted that use of the herbicide had been banned by the U.S. army in Vietnam.

Australia will withdraw one infantry battalion, about 750 men, and some supporting personnel from Vietnam, Prime Minister John Gorton said today in Canberra. Gorton said the 8th Battalion, whose tour of duty is up in November, will be withdrawn. But it has not been decided whether it will leave before November.

External Affairs Minister Mitchell Sharp, sponsored in the amount of $35 a mile by cabinet colleagues, marched 4 1/2 miles in Saturday's Miles for Millions walk in Ottawa to earn $150 for the project. Mr. Sharp made it to the first checkpoint but then had to leave the march to catch a plane to Toronto. Some of the minister's sponsorship pledges will take a while to figure out, such as that of Public Works Minister Arthur Laing, who promised to pay "two mills a metre." At 1,609.3 metres to the mile, Mr. Sharp walked 7,241.85 metres for which Mr. Laing should pay $14.48.

Air Canada reported Tuesday in Ottawa a 1969 net income of $1,548,000 after taxes compared with $8,184,000 in 1968. The airline's annual report, tabled in the Commons by Transport Minister Don Jamieson, attributed the "financially disappointing year" to the strike by the International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers, more flights by charter carriers on the North Atlantic route, rising costs and a slowing down of the Canadian economy.

Provincial Welfare Minister Phil Gagliardi said today in Vancouver that a statement by federal Health Minister John Munro that striking workers are eligible for welfare if they can prove need is "ambiguous and an attempt to evade the issue."

Mr. Gagliardi said that before a striker can apply for welfare he must first exhaust all other sources of income such as federal unemployment insurance.

A Vancouver man has been ordered to appear in British Columbia Supreme Court today to face a charge that he tried to tamper with the jury in a narcotics trial. Mr. Justice W. R. McIntyre Tuesday issued the order to David Galloway of Vancouver after being told that the wife of juror Herbert Grimes was offered $10,000 to persuade her husband to arrange a hung jury.

Paul Miller, president of Gannett Newspapers, was re-elected president of The Associated Press by its board of directors Tuesday in New York.

The youngest member of the British Columbia Supreme Court was sworn into office Monday in Vancouver when Mr. Justice Ernest Edward Hinkson, 43, took the oath of office before Chief Justice J. O. Wilson.

The CNR gave a $100 cheque Tuesday to an Edmonton truck driver who saved a string of railway cars. Eddie Oatts, who owns and operates Nation-wide Transport of Edmonton, was driving a truck through McLure, 25 miles north of Kamloops, on April 1 when he noticed a string of CNR cars on fire. He drove his truck onto the tracks, attached his truck to 11 railway cars that were in danger of catching fire and pulled them to safety. After that, he stayed to help extinguish the blaze on the remaining cars.

Communist party chief Leonard I. Brezhnev assailed China and the West Tuesday as foes of Communism, but he offered conciliatory negotiations with both. At about the same time, Peking blasted the Soviet government and called for its overthrow.

Crown Zellerbach Canada Ltd. Tuesday reported in Vancouver first-quarter earnings of $2,011,000, down considerably from the $3,112,000 in earnings for the same period in 1969. Company president Robert G. Rogers told the annual meeting that a depressed lumber market and continued inflation contributed to bringing down the earnings, despite good sales for the three months of $43,437,000. Sales for the same period in 1969 were slightly higher at $43,449,000.

Govs. Dan Evans of Washington and Tom McCall of Oregon said Tuesday asking a federal suit to stop the shipment of nerve gas from Okinawa to northeastern Oregon.

In Burlington, Calif. sheriff's deputies said Tuesday a man they identified as Michael James Brody Jr., who offered last January to give away millions of dollars, is being held temporarily at Belmont Hills Neuropsychiatric Centre. Deputy Sheriff Roger R. Johnson said he was called Monday to San Francisco International Airport where Brody, a New York oleomargarine heir, made a complaint he had been kidnapped. Johnson said Brody, 21, claimed he had been held for six or seven days in Ross, Calif., and injected with drugs against his will.

Governor-General Roland Michener invested nine Companions of the Order of Canada and 19 recipients of the medal of service at a Government House ceremony Tuesday. Among the companions were former Premier Ernest Manning of Alberta, 61, President Claude Besseli of the University of Toronto, 54, and Marcel Cadieux, 54, Canadian ambassador to the United States. This sixth investiture of the order brings to 284 the number of members named since former Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson announced its creation April 17, 1967.

Joan Wilkinson, 30-year-old daughter of American boxing great Gene Tunney, was ordered today to stand trial on charges of murdering her husband. She appeared before magistrates in Chesham, Buckinghamshire, town five miles from the cottage in the village of Chesham, where the body of her husband, Lynn Carter Wilkinson, was found on Easter

New Break Given By Ottawa To Public Housing Tenants

OTTAWA (CP) — A new break on rents for public housing tenants was announced in the Commons Tuesday.

Robert Andras, minister in charge of housing, said the proposed new rent-to-income scale will iron out inequities in the present structure. He also outlined measures to encourage and enable tenants to take part in administering public housing projects.

The revised rent scheme, which Mr. Andras said has already got favorable response from the provinces, would:

—Reduce to 25 per cent from 30 the maximum proportion of a tenant's income to be paid in rent, and lower the minimum proportion for tenants at the bottom income level to 14.4 per cent from 16.7 per cent;

—Reduce the rents of large families by $2 a month for each child after the first two;

—Increase to $900 from $250 the amount a working wife may earn before her income starts counting as part of family income total used in figuring the family's rent;

—Permit one-parent families to deduct $900 from the annual income used to determine rent;

—Require tenants to declare income only once every two years, in effect guaranteeing them a maximum rent rate while permitting downward adjustments if their income drops.

PROPOSED TRAINING

Mr. Andras said the provincial governments have already shown "a substantial measure of agreement" with the new scheme. Provincial authorities will also have a say on the level of federal assistance for better social and recreational facilities, tenant's associations and training programs in public housing management.

The new scheme would reduce to $68 a month from $80 rents paid by a family with five children and an annual income of $4,000. The rate would drop to $43 a month for a one-parent family with five children.

Conservative housing critic Lincoln Alexander (Hamilton West) said Mr. Andras's statement was a long-awaited change, but NDP critic John Gilbert (Toronto Broadview) complained it didn't touch the central problem of 100,000 families unable to obtain needed subsidized homes.

Mr. Andras said that, through the Central Mortgage and Housing Corp., the federal government was committed to building 27,500 low-income units in 1969 and 35,000 in 1970. The total, he said, is equal to 75 per cent of all production in the past 20 years.

End Of World Again Sighted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Air pollution will set off a catastrophic warming of the earth within 200 years unless man checks his plunge toward an overpopulated, industrialized planet, a government weather scientist said today.

The release of increasing quantities of carbon dioxide and thermal pollution into the atmosphere threatens to change global weather and melt the Antarctic ice cap, flooding wide areas, Dr. J. Murray Mitchell Jr. said.

He said man may begin to notice the change by the end of this century.

THERMOMETER FALLS

BLACKBURN, England (CP) — It was a nice day until two pounds of bad weather fell out of the sky while Ron Smith was working in his garden. An instrument package dropped by parachute from a weather balloon hit him on the head. He was uninjured apart from a few bruises and a bloody nose.

FOR BOTTLES They Require More Money

Okanagan College students may not be able to pay for all the bottles they collected last month.

The students were overwhelmed with more than 50,000 disposable containers during their campaign against pollution. They quickly ran out of money—two cents a bottle—and still have not paid about 150 people.

"The way it looks right now, we're not going to be able to raise all the money," said college student president Joe Gordon. "We're hoping to wait another two weeks, try to find some more money; if we can't we'll just have to tell the people we can't pay."

He said Kelowna Secondary, Immaculate and George Pringle Secondary Schools have each been asked to donate another $56, and that the Kelowna

Chamber of Commerce is asking businessmen to chip in.

The college students made an emergency withdrawal from their own school funds, but this was still not enough.

They had originally planned to spend about $125, but have paid more than $200 so far.

"We thought we'd get about 2,500 bottles. About 1:30 p.m. on the day of collection we stopped counting and had 50,000 containers by then," the student leader said.

A number of private citizens have sent donations, he said, and he asks anyone who is grateful for the clean-up job the students did to help.

About three-quarters of the containers collected were dirty or rusty, showing they had been picked up on beaches and alleys, he said. The rest were dug out from basements and garages.

Govt. Employees Awaiting Results

Results are expected soon from Vancouver on the B.C. Government Employees Union vote on whether to accept or reject a 7.5 per cent wage increase announced April 8 in Victoria.

Kelowna branch of the BCGEU turned out 117 members to vote on the offer earlier this month and results were sent to Vancouver for tabulation along with those of 54 other branches.

This was the first time the entire union voted on a wage offer.

Jack Knorr, Kelowna branch president, said he expected to hear "any day now" from the Vancouver headquarters of the BCGEU. The vote, held April 16, was originally scheduled for April 21 or April 27.

Mr. Knorr said the Kelowna branch will not be asked to consider strike action if the proposal is rejected province-wide but union officials will seek to re-open negotiations.

In announcing the wage offer the B.C. Civil Service Commission said special adjustments had been recommended in positions at the lowest salary levels—including clerks, typists, stenographers, ward assistants and nurses' aides in hospitals.

If You Owe Them Money You'll Have To Pay Soon

As the end of the month income tax deadline creeps closer, the following list of the most asked questions, prepared by the Penticton branch of the department of national revenue, might help dispel some of those income tax blues.

When my parents died I went to live with an aunt. I was not legally adopted by my aunt, but she paid for my education. She is now quite elderly and I make her a small allowance. Am I allowed to claim her on my income tax as a dependent?

If your aunt has an income of less than $950 you may claim her as a dependent as if she were your mother.

I am attending the Canada Manpower training course. As I have no income, I am getting an allowance. Must I declare this allowance as income for taxation purposes?

No. Such an allowance is not taxable.

CHANGE JOBS

I intend to change jobs and my employer has already made all the Canada Pension Plan deductions I will be required to pay this year. Will my new employer still be required to make Canada Pension Plan deductions from my salary?

Yes. Each employer must deduct from each eligible employee without regard to what may have been deducted for Canada Pension Plan by any other employer during the year. The employee will receive a refund of over-payment he has made after filing his individual income tax return.

What is the income tax situation if I sell land with a standing crop?

If the agreement specifies an amount for the standing crop, that amount is income to the vendor and an expense to the purchaser. If the agreement does not specify an amount for the standing crop, then no portion of the selling price is attributed to the standing crop as far as the purchaser and the vendor are concerned.

Do I have to acknowledge bank interest as income when filing my income tax return if they don't send me a T5 slip?

Yes, bank interest is income and it is your responsibility to report whether or not you have received a T5 slip from the bank.

TONIGHT

EXPERTS KNOW

These Safety Tips May Save Your Life

An army of happy hikers will soon head into Central Okanagan woods, intent on sipping holiday pleasure from the great outdoors.

Some will be prepared and experienced and enjoy their holiday, but many will wander unprepared and unequipped deep into the forest, without leaving even a trail of bread crumbs.

Many of this last group will become lost or injured and if they are lucky have to be carted out by the Forest Service or the search and rescue unit.

If they are not lucky they will die.

The Kelowna and District Safety Council, the Kelowna Search and Rescue Unit and the Forest Service are issuing their annual warnings on safety in the wild and an appeal for co-operation from hikers, campers and fishermen.

They advise all those going into the woods to carry a compass and a map, wear proper boots and clothing, be well equipped but attempt to carry no more than 35 or 40 pounds and observe a few safety and common sense rules.

Hikers should be familiar with the use of their compass and orient themselves on a map of area before going into the woods.

Blazing a trail always works for TV cowboys and can be helpful for the everyday hiker, providing it is done properly. Indiscriminate marking of trees can be confusing.

Make only a few conspicuous blazes and always look back to see the last blaze before making a new one.

Looking back frequently will help the camper to familiarize himself with what he will see on his return trip.

CHAMBER WEEK

Double Portfolio Important Here

Chamber of Commerce Week began Sunday and businessmen across Canada will stop to put the spotlight on the activities of the hard working organization. Kelowna's chamber, the second largest in B.C., has an executive of 10, each leading committees dealing with a wide range of topics of local interest. The Courier this week will carry articles by directors explaining their roles with the chamber.

By J. MICHAEL ROBERTS AGRICULTURE, NATURAL RESOURCES

These two portfolios are currently being managed by the chamber director. This is an entirely understandable considering the very close link between these two material resources. Factors affecting one invariably encroach on areas of interest in the other. A third and very vital interest of this portfolio is liaison with the newly formed environmental and pollution committee.

AGRICULTURE

The chamber of commerce, both at the national and regional level, is most interested in the development and utilization of agricultural resources. This requires supporting policies for the development, utilization and conservation of water and soil resources, the use of pesticides where indicated, and a program of agricultural technical and economic research.

An equally important concern is the marketing of agricultural products, and to this end the chamber of commerce maintains close liaison with the farming and tree-fruit industries in the Okanagan.

The chamber has continued to show interest and give encouragement to such organizations as 4-H clubs which serve a very worthwhile purpose in the development of our younger people.

Fortunately, the agricultural entities in the Valley are very well organized and the role of the chamber is largely a supporting one. To this end, the chamber will continue to interest itself in such matters as pesticide use, pollution control, and water resource utilization. It will continue to maintain interest in the Okanagan-Shuswap water diversion scheme and other important matters of local interest.

NATURAL RESOURCES

While it is true that natural resources are mainly under the jurisdiction of provincial authorities, the efficient use, management and the development of the natural resources of Canada and their proper conservation are fundamental national interests. A tremendously broad subject, some items which concern us most immediately are forests, fishing zones, minerals, and water.

The forests of Canada represent a renewable national resource of fundamental importance to the economy of the country, and for this reason, continued research and development must take place to improve logging methods, pursue a realistic program of forest management, and finally, to provide encouragement to agencies dedicated to the conservation and reforestation programs.

Concerning fisheries, the need here is to support policies for the protection, conservation, and development of the fishery resources of our inland, coastal, and off-shore waters. With the rapid build-up of international fishing fleets, it is particularly important to protect Canada's off-shore fishing interests.

IMPORTANT

One of Canada's most important natural assets is its mineral resources. In this respect, new sources of mineral wealth must constantly be developed and the attendant problems of transportation and efficiency of recovery techniques. This must be done with an eye to the effects on environmental conditions.

Another valuable natural resource is water. Because Canada's interest must be paramount, in any consideration of water use, there should be no continental diversion schemes or water export until the inventory is sufficiently advanced to determine the probable future needs of Canada. The chamber is particularly interested in those organizations working actively to prevent pollution of this essential asset.

The chamber this year has supported the efforts of the dairy producers in the Okanagan to have equal shelf space allocated for locally produced dairy products.

The newly formed pollution and environment committee has met on a number of occasions already and will be accelerating its activities in the near future.

TO MAY 15

The Tuesday edition of the Kelowna Courier reported Hazel Bailey, who appeared in provincial judge's court, as being ordered to sign a bond to keep the peace. Actually she was remanded until May 15 for a hearing on the placing of the bond.

OK Tel's Year Shapes Up Busy

The Okanagan Telephone Company, which installed its 51,500th telephone in March, will see a banner year in 1970, says Percy Maundrell, manager of the Kelowna office.

"We're beginning to see out of the woods," he said in an interview in his office Monday, and added the company will be offering the public the service they are demanding by the end of the year.

"We've had growing pains, and Rutland is on the par with the increase in the number of telephones as the city of Kelowna," he said.

"Since the start of the year, we've installed 216 stations in Kelowna, and 210 in Rutland. It is safe to say that Kelowna and district development has been most rapid and the growth rate is ahead of Vernon and Penticton," he said.

From Jan. 1 to March 31, Penticton has received 144 new phones, to reach a total of 3,126 stations. Vernon received 197 phones to make its total of 9,738 phones during the same period.

Within its city limits, Kelowna has 12,846 stations.

Winfield will receive an electronic switching centre, which is the latest in central office switching equipment available on the market.

"This is a Canadian-made piece of equipment, and two Kelowna people have been sent East to undergo a full orientation program with the equipment," Mr. Maundrell said.

"The new equipment takes less space and less maintenance, as well as providing additional features," he added.

To experiment with delays in Kelowna-Penticton areas, Mr. Maundrell said the present switching equipment in Vernon will be transferred to the existing facilities in the two other major centres in the Okanagan system in October.

The equipment, all British-made, will be linked into existing circuits and will give subscribers better service.

Revelstoke and Salmon Arm will receive service from Vernon, where one toll area will be in operation. Operators in Vernon will be able to handle calls from these centres to areas outside the Okanagan system—such as Vancouver or Calgary.

He said 26 operators will be handling calls in October, up 12 from the present 14.

Equipment is being installed into the Valley as fast as it can be obtained, he said.

"We have been notified by some manufacturers that we face a two-year delay in some equipment, and we have even had to have some shipped by air freight," he said.

Girls' Memorial Campaign Nears

A bursary blitz to commemorate the memory of three Rutland Secondary School students who died in a traffic accident last year will be conducted in the Rutland area next Wednesday.

"We've already collected about $700 from service clubs and local organizations," says bursary committee chairman, William Drinkwater, who hopes the fund-raising campaign will result in between $3,000 and $4,000 toward the scholastic cause. The perpetual bursary will be awarded any Rutland girl graduate of Grade 12. The project is the idea of a group of Rutland Secondary School teachers, who formed a committee Feb. 12.

Between 60 and 70 chauffeurs and canvassers have been lined up for the one-day residential blitz, with business firms to be canvassed in a later campaign. Next Wednesday's drive will be held from 5:30 to 9 p.m., and the committee is confident response from residents will match the generosity already shown by service clubs and organizations. Teen Town members as well as Rutland Secondary School students are also scheduled to take part in the canvass.

The bursary will be known as the Karen Krogel, Debra Howe, Donna Chutskoff Memorial Bursary.

CAR CHECK MONTH

Horsepower, Responsibility The Onus Is On Motorists

This is spring car check campaign month across Canada.

April is the month set aside each year by the Canada Safety Council to urge motorists to be sure their vehicles are in top running condition.

From time to time for the rest of April the Courier will run suggestions from the safety council, aimed at greater highway safety.

Responsibility goes hand in hand with power—and this includes horsepower.

The Canada Safety Council reminds motorists they are responsible both morally and legally for the safe mechanical condition of their vehicles. This holds true whether or not drivers live in areas where periodic motor vehicle inspections are compulsory for all cars.

Studies and surveys indicate 10 per cent of all motor vehicle accidents can be traced to mechanical failures.

This means about 500 traffic deaths, 17,000 traffic injuries and 35,000 property damage accidents could be prevented in Canada every year if all cars were in safe mechanical condition.

Even when the vehicle is under warranty, the onus remains on the driver to recognize the symptoms of auto malfunctions and to get them repaired.

During its spring car check campaign, the Canada Safety Council co-operates with a number of associations and organizations in urging motorists to have their cars checked by competent mechanics before the summer season of heavy driving begins.

Laws and warranties by themselves will not by themselves prevent needless accidents caused by auto malfunctions. The individual motorist owes it to himself, his family and the public at large to ensure that his vehicle is safe.

It's up to individuals to accept responsibility for the safe mechanical condition of their cars.

SEEN and HEARD

An actual demonstration of an old building to give it a surprisingly bright, modern appearance. This is the second time in recent years the firm has "face-lifted" its building and the result this time is even better.

With temperatures averaging 10 degrees cooler than normal for the Okanagan for this time of year, most residents, both native born and newcomers, are doing the usual thing—grumbling about the weather. One resident of Martin Avenue is an exception. Three weeks ago he left for the Prairies to do spring seeding on his farm in Saskatchewan. With below freezing temperatures, high winds and even a blizzard, not even wild oats are sprouting, so he came back to wait it out in the Valley, where he enjoys watching the blizzard of blossoms dropping from the fruit trees.

Want to avoid getting stopped by the police for speeding? The best way is to refrain from exceeding the speed limit. But if you insist on speeding the RCMP will be waiting, although you probably won't see them until it's too late. The police have been using unmarked cars for some radar checks lately, in an effort to curb speeding in particularly troublesome areas.

Multi-million dollar developments are big news where ever they happen and Seattle is no exception. A recent edition of the Seattle Times contains a surprisingly large story on the Orchard Park $34,000,000 shopping-residential complex planned for Highway 97 and Denoville Road. A 28-inch story and four column picture describe the project at Kelowna, 435 miles northeast of Seattle. Also described is the difference between Okanagan (B.C.) and Okanagan (U.S.).

John Skelton, assistant manager of the Royal Bank in Kelowna since 1967, has received notice of transfer to the main branch in Jamaica, where he will be assistant to the manager.

Prior to coming to Kelowna he was assistant manager at the Richmond branch. He has been with the Royal Bank for 16 years, all spent in B.C. He worked in the district general managers' department in Vancouver and previous to that was on the inspection staff, as well as serving terms in Mission, Vernon and Prince George.

Mr. Skelton leaves for his new post at the end of May. His replacement is Leonard Kozar from Vancouver.

Mr. Skelton is a director of the Kelowna Chamber of Commerce, a member of the Kelowna Lions Club and Kelowna Club and also the Kelowna Golf and Country Club.

Blossoms On Schedule Quick Check Suggests

When are the trees in bloom? That is a question most visitors ask in the Okanagan. And there can be a thousand answers. The time depends on the variety of fruit and the winter and spring weather.

John Smith, supervising horticulturist of the provincial department of agriculture, has prepared a list of dates on which the various fruit trees were in full blossom.

Apricots bloomed earliest in 1941, the date that year being April 1. The latest date for cot bloom was May 7, 1955. Cots were in bloom on April 1 in 1941; April 9th in 1940; 10th in 1961; 11th in 1960; 12th in 1958, 1967, 1968; 13th in 1931; 15th in 1942, 1946, 1947, 1953 and 1966; 16th in 1938; 17th in 1962; 18th in 1932; 20th in 1937, 1944 and 1964; 22nd in 1943, 1945, 1948, 1959 and 1963; 23rd in 1949; 25th in 1952 and 1956; 26th in 1951 and 1957; 27th in 1954; May 2 in 1950 and May 7 in 1955. Of these years, there were five bloomings on April 15th and five on April 22nd.

With peaches, Mr. Smith did not go as far back. His research shows that April 23 was the date in 1960; 26th in 1961 and 1963; 27th in 1960; 30th in 1962 and 1967 and May 2 in 1964. Roughly, peaches would appear to be 10-12 days later than the cots.

The 28th and the 29th of April would appear to be the cherry time. In 1934 cherries bloomed on the 13th of April. This was the earliest while the latest was May 13th in 1950. It was the 13th in 1934; 16th in 1941; 19th in 1940; 20th in 1947 and 1960; 23rd in 1942 and 1958; 24th in 1938 and 1939; 25th in 1961; 26th in 1946; 27th in 1944 and 1956; 28th in 1936, 1952, 1962 and 1968; 29th in 1949, 1959, 1963, 1966; 30th in 1953; May 1 in 1943, 1945 and 1957; May 2 in 1933, 1937, 1965; May 3 in 1951, 1967; 4th in 1969; 5th in 1935, 1948 and 1954; 6th in 1964;

The earliest for pear blossoms was 1933 on April 4th; in 1955 they did not bloom until May 17th. Around the first of May would appear to be the most normal period. The early blooming on April 4 in 1933 was a full six days ahead of the second earliest, April 10 in 1948. Then the jump of eight days to the 18th in 1934. It was the 20th in 1941; the 24th in 1940; 26th in 1947; 27th in 1938 and 1942; 28th in 1939 and 1968; 29th in 1944, 1946, 1958, 1966; 30th in 1932; May 1 in 1936, 1960 and 1961; 3rd in 1943, 1952, 1953 and 1957, 1963 and 1967; 4th in 1949 and 1959; 5th in 1962 and 1969; 6th in 1937, 1945, 1954 and Anjou only in 1965; 7th in 1935; 8th in 1951, 1956 and 1964; 17th in 1955.

May 6th to 10th appears to be the normal time for apples, but they have ranged from April 25 in 1934 and 1941 to May 27 in 1955. April 25 in 1934 and 1941 were the only April bloomings, but it was May 2 in 1939 and 1940; 5th in 1947; 6th in 1931, 1958 and 1960; 7th in 1930, 1946 and 1957; 8th in 1942, 1949, 1953 and 1966; 9th in 1932 and 1938; 10th in 1944, 1952, 1961, 1962 and 1968; 11th in 1936 and 1969 (last year); 12th in 1956; 13th in 1951; 4th in 1933; 15th in 1943, 1945, 1959, 1965 and 1967; 16th in 1935, 1937, 1964; 17th in 1963; 18th in 1954; 20th in 1948; 22nd in 1950; 27th in 1955.

A cursory check suggests apples are just about three weeks behind the apricots, give or take a day or two. So assuming the cots were in full bloom this year on the 17th, apples should be in bloom about the 10th of May, which would be pretty near normal. Although there was a mild winter and spring flowers were a bit early, the cool nights obviously have held back the fruit blossoms to make it a near-normal year.

We Need The Watchdog

(Calgary Herald)

Recent criticism of the auditor-general by a member of the federal cabinet would be less alarming if it were not coming from a government accused of down-grading Parliament.

The auditor-general, the watchdog on federal government spending, is accountable only to Parliament and, in a way, is one of the symbols of Parliament's authority.

Although all past federal governments have been irritated by revelations in every auditor-general's report of waste in government spending, the function of the office has never before been questioned.

Nevertheless, one criticism made by Privy Council President Donald Macdonald does have substance. He objected strongly to the auditor-general's reference to money spent on the Prince Edward Island crossing project, started and continued by previous governments and finally abandoned by the present one. Mr. Macdonald said the auditor-general had no competence to imply that the money spent was wasted because of the government's decision to cancel the project.

The auditor-general did make himself vulnerable to criticism in this case, particularly when the government was saving the country from wasting money in future by changing a policy instituted by a previous administration.

The auditor-general's function, established by precedent, is confined to pointing out departmental misuse of funds. It is not the purpose of his office to make implied judgments of government policies.

It would be a pity if, by needlessly over-reaching his authority, the auditor-general gave an unfriendly government an excuse to weaken his role.

The tax-paying public would lose a mighty champion of its interests if there weren't someone around to cite such examples of administrative stupidity as paying $2,000 an acre for useless Quebec swamp land or $450,000 annually to CBC employees for work not done. These examples are among many blunders cite in the auditor-general's most recent report.

There is really no question about the great value of the auditor-general's function. The government would surely be under-estimating public intelligence by trying to discredit the office.

Bygone Days

(From Courier Files)

10 YEARS AGO

April 1960
Keith Maltman of Kelowna has been named to the B.C. team which will compete in the Canadian Olympic wrestling trials at Montreal in May. Maltman, 210 pounds, captured the B.C. title in Vancouver for the seventh time. He won unanimous decisions over Ernie Fulton and Joe Fedascek.

20 YEARS AGO

April 1950
Speaking to a Coalition meeting in Orange Hall, W. A. C. Bennett, M.L.A. for South Okanagan, said the long-range plans call for a highway on both sides of the lake from Penticton to Vernon, and a bridge between Kelowna and Westbank. In the meantime a third ferry would be in service by July.

30 YEARS AGO

April 1940
The Glenora Municipal Council received complaints regarding tractors working in the orchards at night. A by-law was instituted making it unlawful to operate tractors between 10 p.m. and 5 a.m. This regulation does not apply to spraying equipment as this work was considered of a more urgent nature.

40 YEARS AGO

April 1930
J. B. Spurrier reports that about 60 mountain sheep were seen last week on the west side of the lake near Penticton. He says this indicates they are coming down from their home on Terrace Mountain for the summer.

50 YEARS AGO

April 1920
Property owners of the KLO bench are working on a scheme to incorporate an irrigation district for the purpose of acquiring the Canyon Creek Irrigation Company and South Kelowna Land Company irrigation systems. A committee was appointed to handle the details, they are Messrs. J. E. Reekie, chairman; R. M. Hurl, secretary; R. M. Grogan, W. Marshall, Felix Casorso, A. Wiggins and Commander Stirling.

60 YEARS AGO

April 1910
Two hundred British settlers, carrying with them upwards of $500,000 arrived on the Empress of Britain, enroute to ready-made farms of the C.P.R. east of Calgary. Cinematograph operators left with them for their destination and will cinematograph them at intervals on the journey, and the pictures will be exhibited in Britain.

IN PASSING

A 58-year-old retired policeman in Formosa confessed—and produced snapshots to prove it—that she had been arrested 38 years ago for wearing a miniskirt on the campus of a high school in Hunan, central China.

FIRESIDE CHAT

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

CHANGING NORTH

Sir: Some time ago you reprinted an article from the Chatham News entitled "Siberia is not so bad." This article, written by a layman, criticized Canada's lack of development in the north and her hesitancy in undertaking the task. I would like to offer the following rebuttal to that article:

While being critical of Canada's hesitancy in occupying her north lands in comparison with the Soviet Union, one must keep in mind several factors which greatly influence this matter.

Firstly, Canada is grossly underpopulated using a ratio of people to land. This means there is more than enough favorable land to the south to accommodate quite comfortably our present population. Also worth noting is the trend of Canadians to gather together into cities (About 70 out of every 100 Canadians live in cities of population over 1000).

Esquimalt Load Grows Heavier

VICTORIA (CP) — HMC Dockyard in suburban Esquimalt is well into its heaviest work load in 15 years, and one of the reasons is refitting the compact submarine HMCS Rainbow.

Refit on the Rainbow began last September. The repair portion will be completed in May and will be followed by operational trials.

The Rainbow refit is the first since the 312-foot sub was purchased from the United States Navy in 1968 for $150,000, when she replaced the Grille which had been on loan since 1961.

The job is "just a normal refit," says Capt. Stanley Hopkins, manager of the ship repair unit, but it does have its problems.

One is lack of space. Cramped quarters make it necessary to work three shifts a day so various trades can get into the vessel and do their work.

About 280 men a day work on the ship which has room on board for 80 or 90 at one time. "They're practically standing on each other's shoulders," says Capt. Hopkins.

And a scheduling problem has been caused because the sub is 25 years old and spare parts are scarce. In some cases they have to be made from scratch.

Secondly, thus far our abundance of resources to the south have held out, not having necessitated our opening up the north to get at the minerals, etc. (At the present time, this statement is quickly becoming untrue as large oil companies, etc., are turning to the north for their future sources.)

Thirdly, our democratic society provides no effective way to get people into the north. Also, our culture is relatively new — America was only discovered about 450 years ago and it probably took another 100 years or so before a real penetration of the interior started. I would suggest that this penetration of the interior started and now that we have a southern belt from coast to coast, we are starting northward.

There are many other reasons why the Canadian northlands have not been populated, ranging from "perma-frost" and marshlands to the lack of economical transportation to markets to lack of research into the Arctic, but given another 50 years, most of these will have become obsolete and no longer will you find critics writing about that underdeveloped country known as Canada.

Yours truly,
GLEN GREENWOOD.

Now It's Death, Taxes Plus Inflation Which Are Certainties For U.S. People

NEW YORK (AP) — If there is one thing besides death and taxes that Americans can count on in the immediate future it is inflation. The "all-out" war to lick rising prices has been abandoned.

The government has the ultimate weapon to win the fight with inflation but it will not use it. That weapon is recession. The decision emanated from Washington, where economic strategy, judging from the rhetoric, had earlier called for little short of total victory. Unconditional surrender, however, was seen to involve other problems.

With elections coming up, public officials found public projects starved for funds. With unemployment rising, there were prospects of a red-hot summer in the slums.

The fact of the matter is that the Nixon administration, like all others, has found that the economy cannot be guided by the heavy hand of impersonal theory but must be radical and sensitive to immediate pressures.

The question now to be decided—and events to follow will provide the only real answers—is whether the Nixon administration relaxed the pressure too soon. There were these elements in its decision:

—The possibilities of a recession were growing. Unemployment was rising sharply. The gross national product had ceased to advance at all. Corporate profits were being pinched. The housing industry was badly depressed.

—Some signs existed that inflation might be responding to administration efforts. Not many signs: some economists in fact still can't see them. But the rate of price increases did slow even if the level of inflation remained high.

SEE NEW PROBLEMS
Because the administration has decided that some inflation is permissible, compared with the consequences of rooting it out altogether, a new set of problems to watch are these:

—Will the rate of inflation drop, as the administration still hopes, or will the relaxation of pressures on prices result in a new wave of inflation?

—Are the forces put into motion by the administration in its efforts to slow the economy now relentlessly working their way through the machinery of the marketplace and brewing a recession that cannot be forestalled?

There is a lag—six to nine months or so—in the impact of economic policies. In other words, actions taken last fall could affect the economy only early summer. Can it be avoided?

The telling is that there will be no recession. Even bearish forecasters who looked at the darkest side of the picture are inclined to shine up their outlook. But the odds are great that inflation will remain.

NEWS ANALYSIS

U.S. In Talks Sans Proposals

By PHILIP DEANE
Foreign Affairs Analyst

The U.S. has entered the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (SALT) in Vienna with no proposals. The White House says that the American delegation will listen with interest to any proposals the Russians have to make but will not make proposals of its own. The talks will not produce quick results; it may take years before any agreement is achieved and to listen is not a bad thing. Only from a propaganda point of view can it be said that the Americans have lost points because Leonid Brezhnev has just made an affirmative statement, urging agreement and stating that his country wants agreement. This, of course, raises the question of whether the U.S. also wants agreement on limiting strategic arms.

There is no doubt that many Americans do want such limitation. There is considerable support in Congress for agreement with Russia on slowing the arms race. The Secretary of State, Mr. William P. Rogers, favors agreement. But does the president?

To achieve agreement on limiting strategic arms, faith and passion are needed at the top and not just calculation. Few doubt that if the limitation of strategic arms became politically profitable, Mr. Nixon would be for it. There is evidence that he does not consider it a burning political issue. It may well not be a burning political issue. Even Americans who want the Vietnam war to end and who agitate to that end, show little interest in disarmament these days, perhaps because one cannot be militant about too many military issues at the same time.

There may well be a feeling that the balance of terror works and that it should not be disturbed. Russia's invasion of Czechoslovakia gave people second thoughts about her peaceful intentions. The militant young currently think Russia is an aggressive imperialist country who would use nuclear weapons against China over border disputes in which the Chinese are right. Who then is to generate political pressure in favor of limiting spending on nuclear arms?

Without political pressure, the issue is left to the professionals and to Melvin Laird, the Secretary of Defense in whose political judgment Mr. Nixon trusts. Mr. Laird is very far from being a dove, yet he reads the handwriting on the political wall and does not give in to his general who do not want troop withdrawals from Vietnam. Vietnam could lose Nixon the 1972 election and Laird wants to get out of Vietnam.

On strategic arms, however, Mr. Laird's views are clearly hawkish. He has written a book, A House Divided, in which he defines the posture he wants the U.S. to adopt. "... serving credible notice, and meaning it, that we reserve to ourselves the initiative to strike first when the Soviet peril point rises beyond its intolerable limit." The Russians have read this book. It would be pardonable if they associated its sentiments with Mr. Laird's decision to nearly triple the number of U.S. warheads from 4,200 to 11,000.

CANADA'S STORY

Canadians Faced Gas At Battle Of Ypres

By BOB BOWMAN

When the First World War began in August, 1914, Canada performed a miracle recruitment and training. The 1st Division of 33,000 men sailed from Quebec on Oct. 3 and moved into the front line in Belgium in February, 1915. It is doubtful that any troops in history ever received a more dreadful baptism of fire. They were assigned to defend the city of Ypres which was the gateway to St. Omer, and the channel ports of Dunkirk, Calais, and Boulogne.

On April 22 the Canadians saw a dense cloud of yellowish-green vapor rolling toward them and their allies. It was poison gas moving slowly along the ground in heavy billows. French colonial troops were the first to be enveloped and they broke and fled, leaving a gap of more than a mile into which the Germans began to come through.

The Canadians were ordered to counter-attack and suffered heavy casualties clearing the Germans from St. Julien Wood. Crack Prussian troops then drove out the Canadians, and after six hours of fighting, for example, the 10th Battalion from Calgary had lost 610 men, killed or wounded. Commanding officer Colonel R. L. Boyle was among those killed.

The fighting continued back and forth, and on April 24 the Germans released more clouds of poison gas. This time the Canadians were in the thick of it. They were choked, blinded, and on the verge of losing the will to live, but they hung on. One measure of protecting themselves against some of the effects of the gas was to tie urine-soaked cloths over their noses.

The Canadians had another disadvantage. They were equipped with Ross rifles which often jammed. Ralph Allen wrote in "Ordeal by Fire": "without warning hundreds of Canadian infantrymen found they could do nothing but weep, curse, or pray in the face of the advancing Germans and attempt to pry loose their jammed rifle bolts with trenching shovels or the heels of their big army boots."

The first battle of Ypres continued until May 4 but the Canadians held. More than 6,000, one-fifth of the entire force, were killed, wounded, or missing.

OTHER EVENTS ON APR. 22:

1737—La Compagnie des Forges began mining iron and built Canada's first smelter at Three Rivers, Quebec.

1786—Sir Guy Carleton, now Lord Dorchester, was made Governor of Canada.

1844—Bytown and Pakenham (now Ottawa Citizen) was founded.

1897—Finance Minister Fielding introduced new tariff.

1954—National Conservation Conference opened at Ottawa.

1960—Field Marshal Montgomery began four day visit to Canada.

1963—Lester B. Pearson became Prime Minister as Liberals formed government.

Most Driving Instructors Happy In Their Most Harrowing Work

TORONTO (CP) — Despite their own harrowing experiences, most driving instructors are scrupulous about their standards.

Mr. Kerberer does not guarantee, however, that a student won't "freeze up" during his licence test and wind up on the sidewalk, grinning sheepishly at pedestrians, as did one of his students.

APRIL SHOWERS

A sprinkling of fashion ideas, including some of the wet look fabrics and trims, will highlight the shower of clothes at the fashion show Thursday night at Capri starting at 7:30 p.m. The show, sponsored by the Kelowna Chapter of the Registered Nurses Association of British white pant suit with navy blue trim and gay polka dot scarf; Mrs. A. F. LaBounty in a glamorous navy and white figured silky turtleneck pant ensemble, with white fringe and wearing a swirl of mini pleats is Mrs. Hugh Reilly, whose yellow frock will take her dining and dancing all summer. #### Hair Styles Go Feminine

NEW YORK (CP) — Femininity is winning everywhere in the fashion world, and that includes hair styling.

To balance the longer skirts, hair goes shorter. It didn't come a minute too soon. That long, over-the-shoulder hair and the maxi coat of last winter were enough to make any fashion-conscious person shudder.

But now that the over-teenage generation is pleasantly contemplating the return to knee- or mid-length skirts, the hair stylists have asserted themselves and brought fashion balance back into the picture.

Actually the trend to more femininity started last year, and like trends everywhere, took time to gain acceptance. As early as a year ago models parading the spring collections of the top fashion designers in New York had forsaken the curls and ringlets of the previous season and were wearing their hair sleek and brushed off the forehead. Buns at the back of the neck were popular.

The latter style was to become the 1969-70 winter style, a move in the direction of this spring's softer look. The bun went up from the neckline almost to the top of the head. A pompadour was added, and fragile tendrils drooped down at the ears. Lo and behold! We had a 1970 version of the Gibson Girl hair-do.

But as spring of 1970 advanced, the hair styling became more natural, in soft curls and waves. Many girls still like their hair almost shoulder-length. For them, Kenneth, a prominent New York hair stylist, wants hair to be more fluid, wavier, softer-looking.

Commodore's Ball At Yacht Club

Special guests from Kamloops, Vernon and Summerland Yacht Clubs were among the crowd who enjoyed the annual Commodore's ball recently at the Kelowna Yacht Club.

More than 100 persons attended the event, which is one of the nicer social events in the Valley. A sumptuous banquet featuring Cornish game hens, with orange sauce and breaded potatoes was followed by the installation of officers for 1970-71 by Dr. Gordon Wilson, who was also guest speaker.

Officers installed included, Commodore Les Orst; vice-commodore, Doug Sutherland; rear commodore, Dr. Kenneth Gels; past commodore, Percy McCallum; staff captain, Ted Thorp and fleet captain Gordon Hartley.

Directors with one year left to serve, who were installed were John Zdravlek, Glen Coe and Lindsay Webster and new directors installed were: George Johnson, Ross Lander, Grant Stewart, Ken Cooper, Doug Birdsell.

During the dance which followed, the ladies added color to the scene wearing many lovely gowns, and party dresses in spring colors.

Kinettes Go Into Committee For Beef And Bouquet Night

First vice-president, Mrs. Lloyd Schmidt, was in the chair when the Kelowna Kinettes Club held their April meeting at Capri. As in past years, the April meeting was "beef night" with the meeting going into committee for a beef and bouquet session. After splitting into small groups the chairmen of each group reported back and all comments were recorded so that the executive can consider the beefs and bouquets and act on them as they see fit.

Guests introduced included seven Kinettes from Vernon and Kin-wives, Mrs. Lars Pada and Mrs. Dave Bakes.

The fashion show was discussed as was the birthday party for the Kinettes to be held on May 2. This is a potluck supper to be held at Centennial Hall with a skit and dancing as entertainment. One week later

HITHER and YON

Marina Maundrell, last year's Lady of the Lake, was invited to the annual Lieutenant-Governor's ball for Queens from all parts of the province. Escorts for the gala evening were young men from the air force, naval and military colleges on the Island. Marina, who is employed in Vancouver, accompanied Miss Burnaby and her mother to the gala event, where she represented Kelowna. Lieut.-Gov. Nicholson and Mrs. Nicholson were the only seniors present for the glamorous young affair.

Penticton visitors in Kelowna recently were Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Lloyd and Mrs. G. Hutcherson, who attended the preview of oil paintings by Rick Grandmaison at the Jack Hambleton Galleries.

Mr. and Mrs. Lionel North have returned after a two-week holiday spent in Vancouver and Vancouver Island. Mr. North served as lay minister in St. Paul's United Church, Kelowna from Nov. 1 until the new minister was able to take over at Easter.

Visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Ben Bergman, Joe Rich Valley, are Mr. Bergman's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon McPhail of Edmonton. The McPhails are completing an extended round trip which included visits with their daughter and family in Phoenix, Ariz., and other friends and relatives in Washington, Vancouver and Salmon Arm.

Recent visitors in Kelowna from Salmon Arm were Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Smith who attended the preview of the Rick Grandmaison paintings at the Jack Hambleton Galleries.

Anglican Church Women are busy making last minute preparations for their annual spring sale and bazaar in the parish hall on Saturday starting at 2:30 p.m. Members donating plants to the garden booth, are reminded that plants should be delivered to the hall before 1 p.m.

Whatever Next? Atomic Floors

OTTAWA (CP) — The first Canadian production of atomic-age flooring here is expected to be the forerunner of many products that make special use of nuclear energy.

Radiation, liquid plastic and wood are the basic ingredients being combined by the commercial products division of Atomic Energy of Canada Ltd., to make tough, low-maintenance, eye-catching floor tiles for a major test of the Canadian flooring market.

The tiles are said to have all the esthetic qualities of wood, come in a range of colors, require virtually no maintenance, retain a high gloss under the heaviest punishment and cut down finishing costs.

The crown corporation's experts say they are confident that a large-scale production plants can make them competitive, in price with conventional flooring.

Barwood of Canada Ltd., an American firm, shares AECL's confidence and has ordered 200,000 square feet of tile to test the Canadian market.

ANN LANDERS

Divorce Laws Unfair To Wronged Husbands

Dear Ann Landers: You frequently advise women who are married to alcoholics who refuse to help themselves to "throw the bum out."

What do you advise when the drunk is a wife? My life has been pure hell for 11 years because my wife is a boozier. The law won't let me kick her out. My lawyer says if I leave, the courts will give her half of everything I have. I know this is true because a friend of mine walked out on his alcoholic wife. She now lives in a $50,000 home and he is holed up in a dump. He has to give his wife half of everything he makes. Is this justice?—Trapped in Georgia

Dear George: When a man marries, he has a legal obligation to support his wife. The divorce laws in some states, however, are grossly unfair to husbands. I believe they should be changed. When the wife is better equipped to make a living for reasons of health and training, and when no children are involved, the wife should not get half of whatever he earns, come hell or high water, for the rest of her natural life.

Dear Ann Landers: Glad you printed the letter from the guy who never looked sideways at a certain girl but who attached himself to her like a suction cup, pestered his family and hunted him down all over town. I thought I was the only one.

There's this woman, Ann, whose name I couldn't even spell. Suddenly she picked me out for her husband. If she spots me in public I am finished. She sent me a birthday gift, Christmas gift, a Valentine gift, cards for Lincoln's Birthday, George Washington's Birthday and Columbus Day. She has told my family she's going to marry me—as soon as I come to my senses and realize I'm in love with her.

The sad part of it is I might have married her if she hadn't chased me. She is rich and attractive—until she puts on her track shoes. Why are some women so stupid? They spoil it for themselves.—Oklahoma.

Dear OK: It's not so much stupidity as insecurity propelled by aggressiveness. But you are right about spoiling it for themselves. They certainly do.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a girl, 14. Last summer when our family went on a holiday, I met a great bunch of teen-agers. No smoking, drinking or pot. Just good, clean kids. A certain boy in the crowd (age 18) took a liking to me. We have been corresponding ever since. Last week Eddie wrote that he had saved his money and was coming to see me. He has a friend in town and had arranged to stay at his house. I was very excited and told my parents.

Yesterday Mom was acting very strange. I knew something was wrong. Finally I got it out of her. She had sent Eddie a telegram telling him to cancel his trip because I wasn't THAT interested and signed my name.

I'm very upset. Eddie was a friend, not a sweetheart. Mom says she did it for my own good because he is too old for me. I'd like your opinion.—Unfairly Treated.

Dear U.T.: Your signature is also my opinion. Your mother should have told you of her displeasure and you should have decided together what was best.

Dear Ann Landers: What's the matter with me that I have had such rotten luck? At 16 I fell in love with my teacher. He was married and strung me along for nearly a year. He never did get a divorce like he promised. I was a fool to believe him. At age 17, I quit school and joined a magazine crew. We travelled the Dakotas, Iowa and Nebraska. I went crazy over a man in Sioux Falls. We went together for seven months. Then he told me his wife was catching wise and we'd better cool it. That was the end of him.

Now I'm in love again. This time it's an executive with quite a lot of money. The trouble is his wife is emotionally unstable and he's afraid she might do something irrational, like shoot me. He gave me a nice going-away present last night ($300) and said, "Good-bye, Honey."

I'm a decent girl who falls in love easily and gets hurt a lot. Please help me, Ann. I want a husband.—Lolly

Dear Lolly: The key to your problem appears in your last sentence. Lay off the husbands and try to find a nice single man.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a

Women And Their Relationships Take New Approach In Sweden

STOCKHOLM (CP) — Sweden appears to be sweeping toward an entirely new approach to the role of its women and their relationships with men and society.

It's the most significant sociological feature that hits a visitor to the country. Swedish women look at men squarely in the eye as if to say: "I'm me. Me. Not someone to be classified just as a woman."

To a North American male, it's all just a little frightening. Women in Sweden are playing important roles in all walks of life.

There are hints that problems are arising, but a visitor with only a few days at his disposal can gain only superficial impressions. But strong impressions they are, and startling for one who wasn't sure what he should expect.

The changes that are taking place are perhaps best explained in the light of the philosophy involved in the UN Declaration on the Elimination of Discrimination Against Women, 1967.

"Discrimination against women is incompatible with human dignity and with the welfare of the family and of society, prevents their participation on equal terms with men, in the political, social, economic and cultural life of their countries, and is an obstacle to the full development of the potentialities of women in the service of their countries and humanity."

NEW VIEWS EMERGE

So says the UN declaration, and it appears the Swedes decided this a long time ago and decided to get on with the job. But there is a debate going on in Sweden on just how far and how fast the process should go.

In a book, Swedish Woman Swedish Men by Anna Greta Lefson, it is pointed out that two points of view have emerged. The moderate view assumes that women have two roles; to be a mother and to have a profession.

The goal is to give every woman a chance of freely choosing housework or a profession, or both, without either job getting in the other's way. Economic reasons must not be allowed to force a woman to be gainfully employed, nor must lack of child-care facilities hinder her from working outside the home.

The radicals in Sweden, however, are much more definite in their approach. According to them, woman's emancipation and equality between the sexes cannot be realized until women take up and continuously devote themselves to occupations outside the home. They must reject the household ideal and stop regarding the family as an institution for their own support.

Women must consciously strive to make a career for themselves and to become socially and economically independent of men. Equality must be extended to apply even within the family.

Those are the two schools of thought, and the controversy is under way.

NO BON-NEA HERE

Some absolutely wrong impressions about the changing society have spread outside of Sweden, however.

Because of the woman's changing role there is often the assumption that women are more accessible, sexually, that you just have to sit in a restaurant for a while and you're on your way.

Many young males from some of the southern countries in Europe make vacation migrations northward to get in on the bonanza.

But both visitors and the Swedes themselves say a lot of young men are heading home awfully disappointed.

The Swedes themselves are not terribly fond of some of the impressions held around the world, and they're going out of their way to dispel them.

So although it must follow that there is a much more liberal approach to sexual activity, it isn't at all what many people have decided it is. What the changes in the roles of women in Sweden will do to the family as we know it probably won't be known for decades at least.

But full- and part-time nurseries and schools of various types now are beginning to fill roles once taken by women.

CGIT Girls Try 'Trust Walk' In Search For Real 'Me'

Forty-five girls from many parts of the Interior underwent a new experience during the weekend—a trust walk. The girls, all members of the Canadian Girls in Training, were attending a senior girls' conference, co-hosted by Kelowna and Rutland groups. Theme of the conference: Aquarius and Me, stressed "knowing yourself."

In a "trust" walk, one person shuts her eyes and a second person leads her around without saying a word. The "blind" person cannot open her eyes or say a word. The girls were each "blind" for 10 minutes. When this time was up they went back to group and discussed how this affected each other.

Prior to this, they had jotted down three things that had changed their life in some way, and had also discussed their findings. Rev. John M. Davidson, who was in charge of the morning program, told the girls he was concerned with young people and wanted to help them.

Arriving here from Armstrong, Osoyoos, Enderby, Quesnel and Rutland and Kelowna, the girls started the weekend conference with a sleep-in at First United Church. Saturday morning got off to a brisk start at 7 a.m. and a walk to First Baptist Church for breakfast. Discussion groups were launched with a sing-song session, before Rev. Davidson explained the purpose of the conference and his interest in it.

At noon another hike back to First United Church primed their appetites for lunch and the craft sessions which followed in the afternoon. Crafts included mobiles, creative dancing, finger painting and other projects. They also enjoyed a free time from 3:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m.

Saturday evening the girls enjoyed a banquet at Rutland and gave Rev. F. A. Lewis a standing ovation for his inspiring talk on the different points in their lives.

Following this, the girls took part in a bowling session and later adjourning to Rutland United Church where they planned the church service for the following day. The evening was brought to a delicious close, with sundaes and milk shakes, prior to being picked up by their Rutland hostesses where they were being billeted.

Sunday morning the girls took charge of the church service, following which they said goodbye to their new friends and wound up a wonderful weekend of exploring themselves.

Evangelical Congregation Surprises Couple On 50th Anniversary

On Sunday evening the congregation of the Evangelical Church surprised Mr. and Mrs. Fred Melling on the occasion of their golden wedding anniversary. At a coffee hour following the evening service they were presented with a gold tea service, flowers and a cake.

Mr. and Mrs. Melling were married on April 5, 1920 and resided in Winnipeg before moving to the Okanagan four years ago. They lived in Penticton three years prior to moving to Kelowna.

Their two children, Herbert Melling of Halifax and Mrs. Fred (Elsie) Lieske of Lang, Sask., sent a beautiful floral arrangement. Although neither was able to be present they plan to be here for a family reunion this summer. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kiel, brother of Mrs. Melling, were present for the occasion.

Telegrams of congratulations came from Prime Minister Pierre Elliot Trudeau, and Premier W. A. C. Bennett. A wall plaque was received from John Nicholson, Lieutenant-Governor of B.C. and a telegram and gold spoon from Hilbert Roth, mayor of the City of Kelowna. Many lovely cards were received from other relatives and friends.

Pioneer Resident Honored At Open House On Birthday

OKANAGAN MISSION (Special)—Mr. and Mrs. Donald W. H. Hall, Lakeshore Road, Okanagan Mission, held open house in honor of Mr. Hall's mother, Mrs. Jessie B. Hall on the occasion of her birthday. During the afternoon, many old time residents of the Mission, dropped in to extend best wishes.

Flowers received from her daughter, Mrs. G. P. Houlgrave, Courtenay, B.C. and cards from her grandchildren and great-grandchildren added to the pleasure of the day.

Mrs. Hall, as Jessie Beatrice Hancock, arrived in the Okanagan Mission in May of 1914 and was married to George Richard Hall on June 10 of that year in one of the first 10 wedding ceremonies to take place in St. Andrew's Anglican Church, Rev. Thomas "Daddy" Greene officiated. The reception was held in the now demolished Bellevue Hotel, Collett Road. The bride and groom embarked on their honeymoon to Okanagan Falls aboard the stern-wheeler Sicamous, which then docked at Renfrew Wharf, foot of Collett Road.

The day following his paternal grandmother's birthday, Ted Hall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hall, Lakeshore Road, celebrated his 14th birthday with a theatre party. He and his young friends attended the show "Oliver".

LORNE WHITE — SPORTS EDITOR

PAGE 8 KELOWNA DAILY COURIER, WED., APRIL 22, 1970

WHITE WRITES

Arms, Bats Royal Power

By LORNE WHITE

Power, power, and more power.

That's the outlook for the Royals of the Kelowna and District Senior B softball league for the 1970 season. Last season's second-place finishers, and runners-up to the Rutland Molson Rovers, still have three of their 300 plus hitters on the club from a year ago, with two, possibly three more, a good bet to reach that plateau this season.

Defensively, the Royals seem a lot stronger, and with considerably more depth, something that may have cost them the pennant last season. The infield is solid, but the outfield could be a problem.

The core of any team in the league will be its pitching staff, and the Royals again have power to spare.

OLD RELIABLE, GIB LOSETH will be back, starting his 15th senior B season. Don Schmidt, last season's workhorse with the Labatts, joins the Royals, and Rick Krausar from North Vancouver will make up the third big arm on the mound.

Loeseth, who broke into the league with the old Blue Caps in 1955, did most of the arm work for the Royals last season, especially during the last two months, after the departure of Bunny Combres. The lanky righthander won't get as much work this season, but his big bat will keep him in the lineup one way or another after boasting .325 average last season.

Schmidt, at 29, is probably reaching his peak as a chucker, and after a couple of overworked seasons with the Labatts, is being looked to for his finest season ever with the pennant contending Royals.

THE NORTH VANCOUVER IMPORT could be the base of the pitching staff.

Krausar last season, while playing for the Coast team, was selected the most valuable player and best pitcher at Kelowna's July tournament. The righthander went one season with a major men's softball league on the Coast and during his stint picked up, what has been hailed one of the best change-up pitches around.

While the pitching situation is stable, the rest of the infield may experience a bit of shuffling. Ed Sehn, who may be the best shortstop in the league, this season will start behind the plate, the position he played some 10 years ago while with the famed Club "13".

Although defensively always a threat, Sehn is most feared with the big black bat. During the past two seasons, he has averaged over .400 (.419 last year) going over the .500 mark three seasons ago.

FIRST BASE WILL AGAIN see Wayne Horning patrolling, with newcomer Dave McLay doing the alternate work.

With Horning, who broke in with the Rovers at the age of 15, seeing little action until the end of May, because of previous commitments, McLay will get a good trial.

The "rookie," a left-handed hitter, carries a big bat, and is capable of the long ball and should be one to watch this season.

On second base, where the Royals were lacking a real good glove last season, Ted Weys will be solving that problem.

Weys, who came over with Schmidt from the Labs, has a lot of range on the keystone corner, with a glove to match and is the big hope for coaches Al Horning and Dick "Buzz" Jones.

Completing the combination is another newcomer, with plenty of experience, Russ Cordocedo.

CORDOCEDO PLAYED ALONG SIDE Krausar in North Vancouver a couple of years ago, and after a one-year lay-off, is back to an infield position. He played second base on the Coast, but will stay on short if Sehn is left behind the plate, if not he may shift to either second or third.

Third base, like second, was a problem last season for the Royals, and this season, there still isn't a regular glove to fill the position.

Joe Fisher, Richard Bullock and Cordocedo, all fine utility men, and perhaps Weys, will alternate on the corner stone.

Fisher will most likely get the nod, with the status of Bullock not known, and with Cordocedo and Weys already set.

MOST OF THE TEAM'S OUTFIELDING strength will lie where it belongs, in centre, with Ian Angus patrolling the fence there.

The ex-Willow Inn Willow, played only parts of last season, but will be with the club on a regular basis this year. The potential 300 plus hitter is starting his 10th season of senior B ball.

Nick Bullock, Richard's uncle, will be in right field, and although being slowed down a little with a tricky knee, again is being looked to for another big season at the plate.

The move to put Bullock in right was for more speed in left to compensate for the lack of Sehn range on shortstop.

One of the top candidates for the left field spot will be Bill Andrews, a fine, all-around athlete. Andrews, a junior A hockey player in Saskatchewan a few years back, still has the legs, and looks heavy on the stick.

TWO RETURNEES, BOB GRUBER and Rod Bennett will also be putting in a strong bid for an outfield spot. Gruber, a former star with the Kelowna Buckaroos and Trail Smoke Eaters, played most of last season on second base, and could be an adequate replacement there, while Bennett, who has been in and out of the league for the past few seasons can also substitute in the infield.

The Royals are undoubtedly stronger, as are most of the clubs, but with the bat and the arms, they are unmatched. If the defence holds up and the bench stays strong, a pennant will fly once more over Queensway.

A TIP FROM A CHAMP

Pacita Wiedel (left), seven-time national champion, makes a thrust against Chilean Melba Woolcott in first-place barrage, or tie breaker, for the Easter Canadian foil title at McCormick Recreation Centre in Toronto. This was a major tournament for the amassing of points, which competitors hope will eventually qualify them for Canada's British Commonwealth Games team.

France Four Finish First

Seventy-two golfers completed the Ladies Spring Calcutta at Kelowna Golf and Country Club Tuesday, with the team of Anne France, Jeanne Reid, Irene Forco and Gerlie Gibb capturing the 18-hole competition with a 61 net score.

The foursome of Gerlie Johnston, Marg Gibson, Bessie Jackson and Una Long were runners-up, with a 62, while third place went to Fran Finucane, Carrie Bateman, Grace Mason and Marg Cole with a 63.

The Spring Calcutta was the fourth 18-hole event of the new season, the next being Crawford Cup medal competition taking place next Tuesday.

Hockey School Pre-Registration Now Being Taken

The Kelowna and District Minor Hockey Association have announced that pre-registration for the Kelowna Summer Hockey School to be held at the Kelowna Memorial Arena Aug. 15 to Sept. 5, is being taken at Tony's Furniture, 2915 S. Pandosy St.

The school will be directed by Granger Evans, with other local hockey men giving instruction.

Cost for the three week clinic is $20 with a $1 fee for insurance.

Hockey players 16 and under will be divided into three sessions, with each having a two hour session each day of the school.

BASKETBALL

National Team Here Thursday

Five British Columbia high school graduates and key members of Canada's national basketball team will be in Kelowna Thursday.

The national team, headed by coach Peter Mullins and manager John Kootnekoff, Simon Fraser University head coach will be taking on a combination team of Kelowna Secondary School teachers and senior high school players. The proceeds will go in aid of the newly formed National Team Expense Fund for their trip to Europe and the world championships in Ljubljana, Yugoslavia.

Two members of the national squad, Dave Murphy of Kamloops and Bill Robinson of Chemainus, B.C., will run a short film clinic prior to the game, allowing some time for young players to ask questions and talk to some of Canada's top ballplayers.

Game time Thursday is noon at the Kelowna Secondary School west gymnasium, with the national team travelling to Salmon Arm the same day for a game at 7 p.m. and moving on to Kamloops and Revelstoke for encounters Friday.

The Canadian team assembles in Montreal on May 1 and practices until May 5 at McDonald College near Montreal, before flying to Europe for three practice games in Italy, May 6, 7 and 8 at Bologna, Forli and Rome.

The Canadians play against Brazil, Italy and South Korea in Split, Yugoslavia, commencing May 10 and continuing to May 13. A first or second place finish in the prelims would place Canada in the seven team finals in Ljubljana May 16 to 24.

Coach Mullins has added two UBC stars to the roster, replacing Bobby Croft of the University of Tennessee and John Hadden of the University of Toronto. They are forward, Derek Sankey and Guard Alex Brayden, both starters on the Canadian Intercollegiate basketball champions UBC Thunderbirds.

Sankey a six foot three inch rebounder averaged 15 points per game and 14 rebounds, and played his third season on the Varsity, after graduating from Lord Byng High School in Vancouver. Brayden, at six feet and a slight 150 lbs., captained UBC after a three year absence playing for Vancouver IGA Grocers, Canadian Senior Men's Champions and with Thunderbird teams. A quick defensive player, Brayden is a good shooter and averaged 10 points per game this season. He is from Port Alberni, B.C.

NHL PLAYOFF ACTION

Chicago Now Down Two After Lacklustre Defeat

CHICAGO (CP) — The Black Hawks tried everything—including moving Bobby Hull to centre—but they still go into Boston two games down in their best-of-seven Stanley Cup semi-final with the Bruins.

Boston topped Chicago 4-1 Tuesday night, after outmuscled them 6-3 Sunday afternoon in the championship series of the National Hockey League East Division.

Bruins coach Harry Sinden was puzzled after the Tuesday night encounter.

"We hoped to get ahead of them and then slow it down," he said. "The Hull shift to centre was somewhat confusing. I have to say I am a little surprised that we have won the first two games here—not so much now as I would have been before the 'at game'."

Boston got goals from Bobby Orr—the first he has scored against Chicago this year—

Johnny McKenzie, Don Marcotte and Phil Esposito. Defenceman Bill White got the only goal for Chicago.

"We were beaten by a better hockey club—they deserved to win," said Billy Reay, the Chicago coach.

"They've got a pretty good hockey player on that club. He could spell the difference between most hockey clubs."

Reay was talking about Orr, who has moved through the Chicago club this series almost at will.

"We've been checking pretty good and getting the breaks," Orr said.

Orr, the regular-season scoring champion, opened the scoring Tuesday at 5:08 of the first period. He went unmoled right up the slot, passed off late to Fred Stanfield and took a return pass in front of Tony Esposito, the Hawks' goalie.

Kenzie's goal at 10:32 of the

It was his eighth goal of the playoffs. Doug Mohns and Ken Hodge were serving roughing penalties at the time.

Esposito, the Vezina Trophy winner who was named professional athlete of the year in the United States shortly before the game was screened on McKenzie's goal at 10:32 of the second period. McKenzie pulled loose from Stan Mikita to deflect a relay from Stanfield and Johnny Bucyk.

It was another defensive lapse by the Hawks at 13:09 which led to Marcotte's first playoff goal. Hodge took the puck away from rookie defenceman Keith Magnuson in the corner to the left of Esposito and centred it right onto Marcotte's stick.

Boston, which went ahead 1-0 in the first and came out of the second leading 3-0, let Chicago onto the scoreboard only once, at 2:18 of the third.

Gerry Pinder carried the puck down the left wing, passed to Jim Pappin and Pappin hit White with a pass that the big defenceman rifled behind Gerry Cheevers.

Seconds later, Magnuson and Wayne Carleton tangled and while they both got major penalties, Carleton won the fight. The final goal of the game came from Phil Esposito, his 10th, which puts him within two of tying the single-season playoff record.

Dennis Hull lost the puck to the left of Tony Esposito in the corner. Tony's brother, Phil, dug it out and tucked it into the short side after drawing his brother to his knees.

But the Blues didn't give him time for the switch.

Jean-Guy Talbot took a pass from centre Phil Goyette to beat goalie Les Binkley for the first Blues' goal with just 31 seconds gone.

Pittsburgh centre Bryan Hexall took a penalty about seven minutes later and the Blues' power play went to work for its 12th goal of the playoffs.

Goyette carried the puck into the Penguins' zone and fired a hard shot at Binkley from about 20 feet out. Winger Larry Keenan dashed across in front of the net and banged in the rebound.

GOYETTE SCORES

About six minutes later, Keenan moved in on the right wing and pulled Binkley out of position, then slid a perfect pass to Goyette who put the puck in the open corner.

After a scoreless second period, the Penguins got one back when rookie centre Michel Briere pounced on a loose puck in front of Blues' goalie Jacques Plante and lifted it into the net.

But the Blues' close checking and a few outstanding saves by Plante kept the Penguins at bay, and St. Louis wrapped up the scoring with Frank St. Marseille's quick shot from a scramble in front of Binkley.

Spokane A Hockey Hotbed For First U.S. Allan Cup

SPOKANE, Wash. (CP) — This year's Allan Cup final for Canada's senior hockey crown will be as Canadian as maple syrup—even though it will be played in the United States.

Some players on the western champion Spokane Jets have taken out United States citizenship but all came to this agricultural centre of 183,000 from Canada, says club president Dr. Frank Jurdy.

The Jets won the right to meet Orillia, Ont., Terriers in the best-of-seven final by beating St. Boniface, Man., Mohawks 5-3 Tuesday night in Winnipeg. They won the best-of-five Patton Cup western final 3-1.

Orillia defeated Victoriaville, Que., Tigers 4-2 in the best-of-seven eastern final.

All games in the final will be at Spokane, starting Sunday. Other games are set for April 26, April 30, May 2, and, if necessary, May 3, 5 and 6.

IT'S HOCKEY HOTBED

Jurdy says Spokane can be compared with any Canadian hockey hotbed for its knowledgeable fans and minor hockey programs.

He says the club can sell more tickets than there are seats in the Spokane Coliseum, which has a standing-room capacity of 8,100, for the first Allan Cup series outside Canada.

"You just wouldn't believe the fans. They just live for the Saturday night hockey games and they never let up for the whole game."

He says it won't be long before home-grown talent will be pulling on Jets sweaters. The city's minor hockey program has thousands of youngsters chasing pucks.

"You always hear about the minor hockey programs in Boston and Minnesota, but on a per capita basis they can't outdo us," he says.

Attendance for Western International League games have averaged 4,500—far better than the records of the four Canadian clubs in the loop. Playoff attendance here averaged 5,500.

But it wasn't always that way.

Spokane joined the WIHL in 1947 and, after losing in the 1957-58 Allan Cup final to Whittier, Ont., Dunlops, acquired a Western Hockey League franchise.

The professional Comets lost money for five years and when Spokane re-entered the WIHL in 1964-65, "the financial picture was still very dim for three years," says Jurdy.

Then along came Al Rollins, the former Hart and Vezina trophy winner who toiled eight years in National Hockey League with Chicago, Toronto and New York.

Rollins took over the coaching reins and general manager's duties three years ago and his record speaks for itself.

HAWK TAKES UNEXPECTED FLIGHT

Doug Mohns (11) of the Chicago Black Hawks spills between John McKenzie, left, and Fred Stanfield (17) of the Boston Bruins in first period Sunday in the opening game of their Eastern Division series in the Stanley Cup playoffs. Boston took a commanding two game lead in Chicago, as they took the first game 6-3 and Tuesday won 4-1. The Bruins and Hawks now travel to Boston Gardens to resume the Eastern division battle, Thursday.

Al Rollins' Jets To Meet Orillia

WINNIPEG (CP) — Al Rollins, coach and general manager of Spokane Jets, realized a goal Tuesday that he had set for himself when he took over the hockey team two years ago. Rollins' Jets advanced to the Allan Cup final, against Orillia Terriers, by defeating St. Boniface Mohawks 5-3 to win the best-of-five western series 3-1.

92 Of 96 Left In World Cup

TITOGRAD, Yugoslavia (AP) — Ninety-two cars of the original 96 starters were left in the World Cup auto rally today after the first high-speed test ended at Kotor, Yugoslavia. Competitors were given 65 minutes to cover the 50-mile section over mountainous roads. The only casualty was a Vauxhall Ventura with a British crew, which went off the road.

The crew, Cecil Woodley, Robert Locke, and Philip Waller, escaped unhurt and managed to nurse their car back to the start of the special section at Titograd.

The weary drivers then began their toughest endurance test yet—a 120-mile beat-the-clock dash through winding lanes, rough forest tracks and semi-desert.

Tied for first with no penalties after the test were two Ford Escorts driven by Roger Clark of England and Jimmy Graves of England and a Porsche. Aery Hunter of England, another Ford Escort driven by Hannu Mikkola of Finland, and a Citroen DS21, G. Verrier, France.

"We played the kind of hockey we're capable of playing," Rollins said after the game.

Jets took a 2-1 lead after one period but added three unanswered goals in the second to lead 5-1 going into the final 20 minutes.

Mohawks pulled goaltender Henry Goy to ice an additional forward with 2:35 remaining in the third period, and although they swarmed all around the Spokane net, they managed only one goal, with eight seconds left.

"We played well for most of the game," said Rollins, "but at the end we were kind of hanging on."

The Jets got goals from Don Scherza, Jim Little, Bud Eelman, Ron Huston and Ken Gustafson.

The Mohawks' goals were by Leo Duguay, Dave McGill and Wayne Bell.

St. Boniface, playing coach Jack Matheson, who has been sidelined since breaking his nose in Spokane last week, said he thought the first period was much closer than the shots on goal indicated.

"The second period was the turning point," he said.

"We made the mistakes and they put it in."

Mohawks' goalie Goy faced 13 Spokane shots in the first period, compared to the six on Jets' netminder Dave Cox. Goy kicked out a total of 31 shots while Cox handled 27.

Blind Goalie Records 5 S.O.

EDMONTON (CP) — Five shutouts in 13 regular-season games is a good performance in any hockey netminder's book, but 16-year-old Ryan Bryshuk has reason to be particularly proud.

Bryshuk's blind in one eye. It was poked out with a pencil a year ago.

He picked goaltending because he wasn't getting enough ice time as a forward in the city midget league in the season recently concluded. His coach described him as one of the best goalies in the league.

"He doesn't use his handicap as an excuse for getting attention, but takes life as it is," Bryshuk says he's sharper on his blind side.

"I tried cutting a larger hole in my face mask for a wider vision span. It gives me better vision now."

And his mother doesn't begrudge him the time spent on the ice.

"His music went out the door and school is so-so. Hockey has kept him out of mischief."

MAJOR LEAGUE ROUNDPUPS

Reds Rampage 4 1/2 Ahead World Series Material?

By DICK COUCH

Associated Press Sports Writer

Cincinnati's rampaging Reds tagged Phil Niekro for four of their seven home runs Tuesday night and thumped the Atlanta Braves 13-8 to go 4 1/2 games ahead of the pack in the National Baseball League West Division.

"If Cincinnati is this good," mused Braves Manager Luman Harris, "they can just go on to the World Series."

Only three weeks having gone by in the regular season, the Reds have a 13-4 season mark and 30 home runs, the last 10 of them in two victories at Atlanta.

The Braves, meanwhile, have tumbled into the West Division cellar.

In Tuesday's other NL action Pittsburgh outlasted Houston 9-8; the Chicago Cubs downed St. Louis 7-4 and San Diego tripped the New York Mets 5-3. Rain washed out the Los Angeles-Montreal and San Francisco-Philadelphia games.

Perez Swinging

Tony Perez, the majors' hottest hitter, crashed his eighth homer and three singles to pace the Reds' 17-hit assault against Niekro, 0-4, and four Atlanta relievers. Rookie Bernie Carbo slammed in two homers and Johnny Bench, Bob Tolson, Pete Rose and rookie Dave Concepcion hit one apiece.

Atlanta's batters were Rico Carty, Orlando Cepeda and Felix Millan brought the two clubs within one of the single game National League record. Niekro, the knuckleball artist who won 23 for the Braves last season, carries a 7.77 earned run average and has been the victim of 11 homers in 24 1/3 innings.

Perez' (4-for-5) night boosted his batting average to .484, tops in both leagues. The Cincinnati third baseman also is setting the pace in home runs, RBI (22) and hits (30).

Roberto Clemente's first homer of the year capped a five-run flurry in the sixth inning, sending the Pirates ahead 9-4, and they hung on to shade Houston. Jim Wynn delivered five runs for the Astros with a bases-loaded double and his fourth homer.

Billy Williams' three-run homer and Johnny Callison's two-run blast, both off Bob Gibson in the seventh inning, carried the Cubs past the Cardinals to their sixth straight victory. The homers were the first of the season off St. Louis pitching.

San Diego, beaten 11 straight times by the Mets, scored twice in the ninth to snap a 3-2 deadlock. Clarence Gaston knocking in the go-ahead run when center fielder Tommie Agee misjudged his liner and it fell for a double. Nate Colbert hit his sixth homer for the Padres.

Regals Take Intermediate Championship

POWELL RIVER, B.C. (CP) — Powell River Regals won the Canadian intermediate hockey championship Tuesday night, defeating Val D'Or, Que., Olympics 5-3 in the deciding game of the best-of-five series.

About 2,270 fans jammed the arena in this community 70 miles north of Vancouver to watch captain Rob Carmen score twice for Regals.

Al McLean, Dave Parenteau and George Chambers got the other Powell River goals as Regals shelved Val D'Or goalie Rene Lafrenier with 35 shots.

Gatien Higgins, Dunc McDonald and Norm Furlong were the only Olympics to beat goaltender Ed Hyland, who stopped 20 shots.

The two teams were tied 1-1 at the end of the first period, but Regals opened up a 3-2 edge at the end of the second and won the series 3-2.

TWO MEN OFF
Furlong and Gilles St. Jacques were both off for Val D'Or when Carmen scored his second goal at 18:05 of the second period to give Powell River the lead for keeps.

Parenteau made it 4-2 at 1:17 of the third on a breakaway while Regals were a man short. Playing coach Bob Crawford was sitting out a hooking penalty assessed late in the second. Furlong put Olympics back in contention at 3:47 on a pass from Jean Parent, but Chambers grabbed a pass out from Carmen with 75 seconds to play, taking the heat off Hyland.

The Quebec club continued to press, but an elbowing penalty to Yves Caouette at 19:12 killed any chance of pulling their goal-tender.

Ivan Temple, secretary-treasurer of the B.C. Amateur Hockey Association, presented the W. G. Hardy trophy, emblematic of intermediate hockey supremacy, to Carmen following the game.

It is only the third time that the trophy has been competed for and Quebec Amateur Hockey Association intermediate teams had won it on both previous occasions. Sept. Isles took it in 1968 and La Tuque won it last season.

Kaline Delivers Knockout

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A slick pair of Tiger rocks supplied the batting punch but it was old pro Al Kaline who softened up and then delivered the knockout blow in Detroit's latest victory.

The East Division leading Tigers rallied for two ninth-inning runs, nipping Cleveland Reds 5-3 Tuesday night to run their winning streak to six.

In other American League contests, Washington Senators stopped New York Yankees 7-5; Minnesota Twins topped Chicago White Sox 4-3; Oakland Athletics trimmed Kansas City Royals 4-3 and California Angels downed Milwaukee Brewers 3-1.

Kaline, the 35-year-old right fielder, in his 18th major league season, had kept the score even in the eighth inning, with a sensational, leaping catch at the fence, robbing Ted Uhlaender of a home run.

In the fourth inning, Maddox' first major league hit—a single—had tied the game, capping a three-run inning. Kaline triggered the rally with a single.

ERROR COSTLY

A two-out error by Yankees shortstop Gene Michael, followed by Bernie Allen's three-run homer, put the Senators in front to stay at 5-3.

Casey Cox went 7 1-3 innings for his third triumph without a loss while New York ace Mel Stottlemyre, rapped for 11 hits in six innings, took his third defeat. Lee Maye stroked four hits for the Senators and scored four runs. Danny Cater drilled three hits for the Yankees.

Harmon Killebrew's three-run homer in the sixth inning provided the Twins with their winning margin. It was Killebrew's second of the season and 46th of his career. He also scored his 800th career run. White Sox starter Tommy John absorbed his fourth loss of the young season.

Babe Ruth Franchised

TRENTON, N.J. — The Kelowna and District 16-18 Babe Ruth League has franchised with Babe Ruth Baseball for the 1970 season, according to Ronald Tellefsen, development director for Babe Ruth Baseball's International Headquarters here.

Officers of the local league include: president, Gene Heagle; vice-president, John W. Wilson; secretary, Gladys Retzlaff; treasurer, June Hatch.

Babe Ruth baseball is the largest teen-age regulation baseball program in the world. The Kelowna and District 16-18 League will be seeking to compete in the annual International Tournament of Champions play-offs in Wellington, Kansas from Aug. 13-19.

The Tournament of Champions consists of six section representatives from different parts of the North American continent, a host squad from Wellington and an invitational team from Holland.

Overseas Chinese Award Given College Librarian

By HOLGER GOERLITZ

James K. Cheng, noted author of international acclaim, has received the Outstanding Chinese Award for his literary works and his contribution to humanity.

Mr. Cheng was presented the award March 28 by M. L. Chang, Counsellor General of the Republic of China on behalf of the Federation of Overseas Chinese. The presentation was made at the Chinese school in Vancouver.

Mr. Cheng has been the librarian at the Okanagan College for the past year and a half. Prior to that he was head librarian and professor of history at Warner Pacific College in Portland for three years.

He is married and has two pre-school children. He will be taking out his citizenship papers in two years and plans to stay in Kelowna.

Mr. Cheng feels that Canada in her rising prominence in world affairs needs journalism (Oriental reporting in particular) to expand in order to meet the challenge of the future.

He has published five books in Hong Kong and Taiwan and at present is a regular correspondent for the weekly Hong Kong, Newsweek. It is the counterpart of Time magazine in this country.

Mr. Cheng plans to keep the library at the college open this summer.

The presentation in Vancouver was a celebration meeting of National Youth Day of the Republic of China, which marked the overthrow of the Manchu Dynasty.

For the award there were more than 300 nominees. From these, eight were chosen as finalists and Mr. Cheng was the winner.

SPECIAL DINNER

A special dinner was held at the residence of the Counsellor with more than 120 Chinese scholars, professors and students attending.

When notified of the award, Mr. Cheng said, "It's nothing really. It's just that this is what I want to do."

Mr. Cheng has been working as author, reporter and scholar towards the improvement of Sino-Canadian relationships and understanding.

In the last year he has travelled to the island of Formosa where he spoke to General Chiang Kai-Shek concerning Sino-Canadian relationships and world peace. He also organized a group of more than 100 Chinese scholars and wrote to Prime Minister Trudeau advising him that it would be unwise to recognize Communist China.

The prime minister, Mitchell Sharp, Robert Stanfield and John Diefenbaker answered his appeal acknowledging the influence and wisdom of Mr. Cheng and his associates and recognized the importance of this to Canada and the world.

The Gale Research Company of Detroit, Michigan, recently nominated Mr. Cheng for next year's list of contemporary authors.

Specific Sites For Forest Use

The Interior Logging Association meeting in convention in Kamloops last weekend heard an address by president R. A. Lind with four suggestions to govern public use of forests.

Mr. Lind, who said the association realized the right of citizens to use the forests, proposed specific sites be set aside for use for recreation.

The sites, he said, would be chosen according to: safe access to and from roads designed to handle car and trailer traffic; distance from heavily populated areas kept as minimal as possible; steps taken to ensure machinery owners of protection against vandalism and maximum fines set as a deterrent and B.C. forest service supervision and acceptance of these proposals.

Mr. Lind said the limitations were suggested as a public safety measure.

Trustees Favor Greater Victoria

VICTORIA (CP) — Greater Victoria school trustees have voted to remake their district into a single constituency, abolishing municipal representation on the board.

The move was approved by a five-to-four vote, defeating warnings by dissenting trustees that elections will become "big politics" that deny office to "the working class."

If details are worked out in time for the next trustee election, municipal voters in Victoria, Oak Bay, Esquimalt and part of Saanich will cast ballots for all positions open, whether or not the candidates live in the voter's municipality.

Also included in the new area would be part of the unorganized area of View Royal, another Victoria suburb.

The move will require amendments to the bylaws of the school district.

The present voting structure provides for nine representatives, three from Victoria, three from Saanich, two from Oak Bay and one from Esquimalt.

O'Neill New College Dean For Salmon Arm Section

L. T. (Len) O'Neill was appointed dean of the Salmon Arm centre of the Okanagan College at a meeting of the college council held Monday in Kelowna.

He has been associate dean since last April.

Dean O'Neill received his secondary school education at Vernon High School and Vancouver College. He obtained a B.A. at the University of British Columbia in 1951, with majors in English and History. This was later followed by a Bachelor of Education degree and a counsellors' certificate.

He taught from 1953 to 55 at Princeton and from 1955 to 1961 at J. L. Jackson School in Salmon Arm where he handled counselling, social studies, guidance and physical education.

During 1960 and 1961 he was also director of adult education in this area.

From 1961 to 1967 he taught guidance and history to senior grades at Salmon Arm Senior Secondary School where he also served as counsellor.

In 1967 he was named vice-principal of Shuswap Junior Secondary School and in the 1968-69 season returned to Salmon Arm Senior Secondary as administrative assistant.

In addition to his teaching work, he has served on an executive capacity on numerous professional bodies including guidance, school athletics and teacher associations as well as the B.C. Teachers' Federation.

Mr. O'Neill has also worked on the executive of such diversified bodies as the local association for retarded children, the board of Shuswap Consumers Co-op, the PTA schools referendum committee, Catholic Men's Club, Mikana, Toastmasters and New Democrats. Active in sports, he has served as executive member, coach and referee for local minor baseball, hockey and lacrosse associations.

MUSEUM NOTES

What They Didn't Bleed Away Bottled Leeches Would Drink

By URSULA SURTEES

In 1894 our first resident doctor, Dr. B. F. Boyce arrived, bringing with him the training and knowledge of the medical achievements of his time.

His patients were of every shape, size and color, and spread over many miles.

His coming must have been welcome news indeed to the many families scattered throughout the district, particularly for mothers with young children to raise. Mothers of that time had little to help them other than their own good common sense, and perhaps the aid of a "doctor" book.

Nowadays mothers consult Dr. Spock when their child seems to be going "through a phase." Years ago, and not too many years ago at that, the book was consulted for everything. When a child broke out in any kind of a rash, a careful comparison was made with the spotty illustrations in the book.

Nor were these the only things diagnosed. In one book "Gunn's Domestic Medicine 1839" many things are dealt with, starting with the emotional problems of love, anger and jealousy, through such things as intemperance and fits, on to more deadly subjects including the treatment of cancer.

The young girl growing into womanhood is warned of the dangers of tight-lacing, and a very graphic description is given on the effect such lacing would have on lungs, bone structure and blood circulation. As a final clincher to the argument against lacing, it is pointed out that eventually the divine form of Venus de Milo had never undergone any such restraint.

The practice of "bleeding" is gone into very extensively, indeed some of the patients must have recovered in spite of the treatment, not because of it. In one section dealing with fevers the "free use of the lancet" was essential and weakness of the pulse, or feebleness was to be ignored, as these were merely symptoms. The proper practice was to bleed freely every few hours until the fever was subdued. It must have been quite a race sometimes to see which became extinct first, the patient or the fever.

We have on display one of the early "cupping" devices used in bleeding, also a jar in which leeches were stored. These were another much used commodity, and not a remedy one of a squeamish constitution would care to try.

One of our local medical men tells us that as much blood has flowed from the use of lancet and leeches, as was shed on the guillotine during the whole of the French Revolution.

Notwithstanding these most startling treatments, the medical book was a pillar of strength and information to early families, and much common sense and practical advice was given. The use of herbs and balms, poultices and compresses were well outlined. Exercise and brisk rubbing to stimulate circulation was advised in many instances especially when dealing with bowel problems.

Vaccination and immunization were almost unknown or at best the vaccine was hard to come by. Cowpox for the smallpox vaccination could be obtained from New York, and came in different forms. If it came as it sometimes did, on threads, then a small incision had to be made in which the thread was laid. This was then covered with a plaster.

As part of our exhibit we have some of the old quarantine signs, for such diseases as diphtheria, scarlet fever and smallpox, also a rather frightening picture of a man afflicted with smallpox taken in Vancouver in 1924.

Having a preventive shot of vaccine seems a small discomfort in comparison, and one feels a deep gratitude for these pioneer men of medicine who have made such scourges a thing of the past.

Rutland Pension Meet Monday Extension Of Chamber Service

RUTLAND — The Rutland Chamber of Commerce general meeting, to be held at 8 p.m. Monday in the Dillman Room at the Centennial Hall will discuss the Canada Pension Plan. A representative of the government department handling the meeting will attend to answer questions.

The meeting is open to all Rutland residents interested in the subject.

This is Chamber of Commerce Week across Canada and the various chambers are endeavoring to make their activities known to the public.

The Rutland Chamber of Commerce was formed in 1948 and was called a board of trade.

Membership was small for a number of years, but the accomplishments were large.

The volunteer fire brigade was started by the board of trade. The Rutland Waterworks District and street lighting were both brought into being through the Chamber of Commerce.

During the years the board or chamber has supported local organizations and groups in any venture or idea to help in development of the community.

The Miss Rutland contest, first begun as a Miss McIntosh contest, is another part of their activity that has done much to boost the community.

Improvement to roads and the need for adequate policing are matters the chamber has worked hard and long for and attained results.

The Rutland Chamber of Commerce is aiming for a membership of 200 this year.

Officers of the Rutland Chamber of Commerce for 1970 are: F. A. Stevens, president; Clarence Mallach, vice-president; Mrs. Birt Showler, secretary and Ian Haddon, treasurer.

Audience Applauds Topless Stunt Girl

PORTLAND, Me. (AP) — Carmen Morales was balanced atop a 30-foot pole which was resting atop her father's head for a Kora Temple Shrine Circus act Tuesday night when the 24-year-old performer's one-piece sequin costume broke loose from around her neck and fell to her waist. The audience of 3,500 applauded when Ringmaster Austin Miles ended the toplessness by putting his red tailcoat around her shoulders.

Roaming Canines Vital Problem Says Inspector

The increasing incidence of stray dogs in unorganized areas has been blasted by Donald Bacon, inspector for the Kamloops branch of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

One of three inspectors attending the regional valley meeting of the SPCA held at the health centre annex Sunday, Mr. Bacon described roaming canines as a "vital problem" especially from the standpoint of rabies. His views were supported by W. D. DeLorme, president of the Kamloops SPCA who also invited other branch members to the official opening of the new Kamloops animal shelter May 2.

Discussing problems in their own areas were inspectors Mrs. M. Schoon of Penikese, and Jonathan Miller of Kelowna. Chairman of the meeting was George Gillis, vice-president of the Kelowna SPCA.

Bottles Draw Fewer Boys

RUTLAND — The Rutland Boy Scout and Wolf Cub bottle drive failed to produce the usual bumper supply of bottles on Saturday.

The drive clashed with the opening practices of the Minor Baseball and as a result the turn out of cubs and scouts was away below average.

Fathers too, with cars and trucks were in fewer numbers. The Boy Scout Association plans to put on another drive in May, a tentative date of May 20 has been set, Roger Dolbec, the group committee chairman said.

Viet Cong Asked To Go Away
But Civilian Group Shot Up

SAANG, Cambodia (AP) — took over Sunday. The Cambodians said the Vietnamese were residents of Cambodia who had volunteered to "talk some sense" to the Viet Cong.

PRAYED ON THE WAY
The Vietnamese were mostly Roman Catholics—men, women and children. Many prayed as they walked up the road.

A young seminarian who held the white flag on a bamboo pole was asked if he was really a volunteer. He shook his head and said he and the others had been rounded up in four villages.

Many of the older women sobbed as they moved. Some fingered rosary beads.
In the middle of the afternoon the group set out on a road leading from the last Cambodian position through no man's land to Saang. Every 40 yards the group stopped and appealed to the Viet Cong by a portable bullhorn. They also planned to distribute leaflets in Vietnamese and Cambodian.

Gen. Sothene Fernandez, military commander of Cambodia's Second Military Region, told reporters:
"It was a good way to discover where the Viet have their automatic weapons. Now we know where they are so the mission was an extremely fruitful one for us."

Buses brought the Vietnamese to Saang, the village on the Bas-sac River which the Viet Cong

the oil clean-up operation in Chedabucto Bay is "cold, dirty, miserable and wet work."

"But we can do it and it has to be done."
Dr. McTaggart-Cowan was appointed by the federal government to direct the clean-up of oil damage caused when the tanker Arrow grounded in the bay. The vessel later broke in two, spilling half of its cargo of 3,800,000 gallons of oil.

More than 120 miles of coastline were contaminated as well as both north and south shores of Sable Island, 120 miles off the coast.

It was the first major oil spill in a cold environment, said Dr.
McTaggart-Cowan, and findings from the clean-up would be helpful in case of a spill in the Arctic.

Sea life in the bay has been scientifically surveyed and crabs, shellfish and lobsters were found healthy.

TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH

He Was In Pain, It Went With Disc

By George C. Thosteson, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: For two months I had problems walking, would lose time on the job, rest up, go back to work, then more pain.

It kept getting worse till my wife practically carried me into a hospital where they treated me with kindness and consideration. Finally I had a disc operation — to me it was a dreaded operation and I was scared. But lo and behold, I never had a bad moment, never any pain. It was a small, 92-bed hospital, with every consideration bestowed.

I was in less than 20 hours after the operation. Not far, but I walked. I cannot thank all of them enough. A well-spent 29 days in the hospital. I can walk without pain again. — L.J.H., Jr.

Seems as though occasionally, once a year or so, it might not be amiss to print a letter like L.J.H.'s — a plain-spoken account of something that went well.

I receive, as you may guess, a certain number of letters from people whose operations did not end all their troubles, whose treatments haven't suited them. Well, who's perfect? And why should we take it for granted that every case is fully curable? There are still a lot more things that go right than go wrong. Perhaps — do you suppose? — we just might find ourselves farther, along by looking at the bright side more than the gloomy?

Dear Dr. Thosteson: "Tennis elbow" is fairly common among my friends. Why do some doctors prescribe rest and immobility, while others inject cortisone and tell them to continue playing and keep the arm active? — Mrs. D. M.

I can't explain why some doctors do this or do that. All I do is tell what is generally done. Tennis elbow is a form of bursitis or tendinitis, and I consider rest as a basic essential until the inflammation subsides. Injected hydrocortisone may hasten healing and relieve pain very effectively, but for most complete healing, the elbow needs some rest from the strain that caused the trouble originally.

Perhaps your answer may depend on the extent of the inflammation in the elbow. If it isn't too severe, you can get away with some continued use, with cortisone to relieve the pain. But I don't think that is always the best treatment. Rest besides will do a better job.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: The doctor said my daughter has vasculitis. What is it? He told her absolutely not to take aspirin. — D.N.

Vasculitis is inflammation of the wall of a blood vessel and very frequently is traced to some form of sensitivity. Drugs, including aspirin, sulfa and a host of others, can cause this trouble for some people. In other cases it may be a food sensitivity — chocolate, wheat, egg, or whatever. Still other causes are exposure to cold and insect bites. In your daughter's case, I would assume that the doctor has found signs that she has a sensitivity to aspirin.

Note to Mrs. R.S.: I see no reason why you shouldn't set the humidity at whatever level you need to ease the asthma and sinus distress. This will vary with the temperature.

Housing Loans Gain Approval

OTTAWA (CP) — Central Mortgage and Housing Corp. today approved nearly $3,000,000 in federal loans for public housing projects in Manitoba and British Columbia.

The largest, $2,241,160, goes to Tache Nursing Centre Inc., a non-profit corporation sponsored by the Grey Nuns, for a senior citizens housing project in St. Boniface, Man.

The 50-year loan will assist in the construction of a five-storey building providing accommodation for 200 people. A grant of $2,000 per bed will be made by the provincial government.

Raymond Massey Construction Ltd. receives a $337,645 loan for a 25-unit, low-income housing project in Portage la Prairie, Man.

The 50-year loan covers 90 per cent of the construction costs. Manitoba provides the remaining 10 per cent. Trinity Junior College of Langley, B.C., receives $325,000 in a 50-year loan towards the cost of building a two-storey dormitory for 58 students.

TRY AND STOP ME

By Bennett Cerf

OF ALL the gamblers remembered in Las Vegas, the most colorful, possibly, was an insatiable plunger known as Nick the Greek. He seemed always in the thick of the action around the gaming tables, and bounced from millionaire to bankruptcy and back like a yo-yo.

Somebody once asked Nick the Greek what was the longest time he ever spent in a gambling hall. Nick thought a moment, then answered, "The winter of 1948."

This seems as good a time as any to reprint for your edification a Japanese schoolboy's essay on the banana: "The banana are a great and distinguished fruit. He are constructed on same general architecture as honorable sausages. Difference being, skin of sausages are habitually consumable; rapping of banana hardly ever. Banana are strict member vegetable kingdom. Affiliation of honorable sausage frequently undetermined."

Two pronouncements of the poet John Milton should give you a good general idea of what he thought of the institution of marriage:

1. "Why is a man always seven years older the day after he's gotten married?"
2. "Nothing destroys one's nerves faster than having to be amiable day after day to the same human being."

Opening lead—five of hearts. Ask any bridge player for his favorite hand and he'll probably choose some relatively unimportant deal in which he played the giant role of a hero because he succeeded in putting cause he succeeded in putting

You'd think that most players would choose a hand where they executed some far-out triple squeeze or quadruple grand coup, but no, it turns out that the hand they relish most was one where they thoroughly bamboozled the opposition and ran off with all the swag.

Here is the type of hand they might choose. It was played in a national championship and South was Marshall Miles of San Bernardino, Calif., who in recent years has made many highly valuable contributions to the literature and theory of the game and who is also known as an unusually imaginative competitor.

He was playing with his favorite partner, Edwin Kantar, when this hand came along. It is hard to justify his two no-trump rebid, but you can't really quarrel with it when you consider the result Miles achieved.

West led a heart—which was normal enough—and Miles went right up with the ace and returned the king of clubs.

East ducked — which was also quite normal — and now Miles had something to talk about. He quickly cashed seven spades to rack up three no-trump, and he was the only one in the field to score a game with the North-South cards.

You can't really blame East for ducking the club — almost anyone else in his shoes would have done the same—but had East been sufficiently inspired, he would have grabbed the ace and held declarer to five tricks instead of nine. But then we'd have had no story, so perhaps we should all give thanks to East for having made Miles' brilliant coup possible.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

FOR TOMORROW

Planetary aspects, somewhat restrictive, call for care in all matters on Thursday. You may experience a tendency to scatter energies, to go off on tangents not pertinent to your best interests. Curb such inclinations and avoid the carelessness that could lead to needless errors.

FOR THE BIRTHDAY

If tomorrow is your birthday, your horoscope promises a fine year where personal relationships are concerned. If careful to avoid friction in close circles during early August, early October and early November, you should find domestic and social interests especially congenial for the greater part of the year, and there is also indication of some romantic lines in late August, throughout September and in late November. Sudden attractions for the opposite sex during May and or July may fizzle out as quickly as they started, however. There is not much stress on travel in your horoscope, this year, but, for short trips, late June and the first half of October will be highly auspicious.

On the material score, your prospects are good, indeed. On May 1, for instance, you will enter an outstandingly good 3½ month period for making occupational progress, with further opportunities for advances indicated in October — a green thumb month in which you may receive some highly gratifying recognition for past efforts. Next good cycles on the job score: Late December, late January and March of next year. The next 12 months will be especially propitious for those engaged in creative pursuits, with inspiration and unusual productivity star-promised during late May, the first three weeks of July, early December, next January and February.

Where finances are concerned, stars advise that you be especially conservative during late May, early June and throughout July, when an avid desire to make money could cause you to throw caution to the winds and take risky chances. Don't! Wait until

Aug. 15 before making any plans for expansion. On that date, you will enter a splendid period for increasing assets — a period which will last right through the balance of 1970. But, here again, conservatism and sound judgment will be required. Be especially careful not to speculate during October and November. Look for especially gratifying gains in September. Next good period on the fiscal score: The weeks between Feb. 15 and Mar. 15.

A child born on this day will be endowed with a charming personality, a great love of beauty and the proverbial ment indicated in October — a green thumb

B.C.'s $200 Million Lockout Spreads

VANCOUVER (CP) — British Columbia's $200,000,000 construction industry lockout is slowly growing although how extensive it will eventually become remains a question.

In the most confusing labor-management dispute in the province this year, about 600 members of the Construction Labor Relations Association formally locked out seven building trades unions April 14 to protest what it considers irresponsible contract demands by the unions.

The association planned to add the plumbers and pipefitters union to the lock-out list Tuesday.

The confusion started at an April 13 news conference when CLRA President C. J. Conaghan said in a written statement:

"This lockout will take effect tomorrow (April 14) and unfortunately will result in the shutdown of virtually all construction in British Columbia."

OFFICIALS ADMIT GOOF

CLRA officials early this week said that the statement was badly worded and the association meant to indicate a gradual shutdown rather than an immediate province-wide closure.

However, the B.C. and Yukon Building Trades Council says the contractors said exactly what they meant the first time and now are backing off because the lockout is falling apart.

"For starters, the CLRA represents only 50 per cent of the contractors in the province, so there's no way it could shut down virtually all construction," said Ed Fay, trades council secretary.

"Secondly, the lockout has been a failure so far, and I doubt if the CLRA will even succeed at all in this thing, no matter who they lock out," said Mr. Fay, who also disputed the CLRA's estimate of 30,000 men directly affected by the lockout.

At this moment, we've got about 5,000 men locked out—no more than that," he said.

"There are also some people in other unions laid off because of the lockout, but nothing like the CLRA's figures."

STRATEGY BACKFIRES

On top of this, the seven unions threw a monkey wrench into the contractors' lockout strategy by declining to set up picket lines at projects where their members were locked out.

This meant that such other building trades as the carpenters, and until today, the plumbers, were continuing to report for duty.

What the contractors got instead of a massive, crippling shutdown was a gradual, expensive slowdown that is so complicated that even the CLRA has no idea of its size or effect.

"We just don't know how many men are off, or how many projects are shut down," said an association spokesman. "The situation changes almost hourly, with more and more men off as they run out of work."

The situation is further complicated by a continuing strike-lockout in the cement industry which has shut down three major suppliers, in turn halting work on a number of lower mainland projects.

Mr. Fay said it would be extremely difficult to tell the difference between people out of work because of the cement industry shutdown, and workers locked out.

In Vancouver's booming west-end high-rise apartment district, where about two dozen major projects are under way, none could be found that were actually pouring cement.

CREWS ON JOB

However, skeleton crews were doing work on most of them. Carpenters were doing interior work on buildings nearing completion, other workmen were stacking timber or cleaning up on the outside.

At the multi-million-dollar Pacific Centre project in the downtown area, metal workers unaffected by the lockout were continuing to put girders into place.

That project won't be seriously impaired until it runs up against functions performed by the seven locked-out unions—Teamsters, laborers, tunnel and rock workers, bricklayers, bricklayers—helping, operating engineers, cement masons and heat and frost workers.

A survey of 12 major general construction companies by The Canadian Press revealed that the percentage of their work forces laid off or locked out because of the dispute range from 30 to 100 per cent.

Another factor in the lockout are national contracts between the unions and many of the major general construction companies, which operate in other provinces in addition to B.C.

These companies may negotiate with one union nationally, with six others through the CLRA, depending on size and scope of operations. They won't lock out the unions with which they have national agreements because of possible strike action by other locals elsewhere in the country.

Misleading Ads Their Target

OTTAWA (CP) — Special investigators will be stationed in five principal cities starting July 1 to strengthen the consumer affairs department's campaign against misleading advertising, it was announced today.

The officers will be assigned to departmental offices in Halifax, Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg and Vancouver. They will investigate offences under the Combines Investigation Act related to deceptive advertising.

The department said if the plan proves successful, other investigators will be stationed at other offices of the department next year.

Martial Law Imposed After Columbia Protests

BOGOTA (CP) — Colombia was under martial law today after two days of demonstrations by crowds charging that the government was stealing the presidential election from former dictator Gustavo Rojas Pinilla.

The civil registrar's office reported that after tabulation of 98 per cent of the votes, Rojas was trailing by nearly 50,000 votes, with 1,571,249 counted for the candidate of the governing National Front, Misael Pastrana Borrero, and 1,521,267 for the former military strongman.

Police and riot troops in Bogota used tear gas and cavalry charges for the second night in a row Tuesday to clear the streets of thousands of Rojas supporters. Ten persons were reported injured, most of them policemen hit by rocks.

President Carlos Lleras Restrepo Tuesday night imposed martial law, a state of siege and a curfew from 9 p.m. to 5 a.m., declaring that Rojas's followers were plotting "a subversive movement that is the gravest in the history of our nation."

MUZZLES MEDIA
The president also imposed press censorship on radio and television stations and banned meetings of more than five persons.

"We are going to prove that no coup can be staged against institutions. . . . We are not going to let ourselves be oppressed by a small group of agitators," he said.

Rojas's daughter and campaign manager, Senator Maria Eugenia Rojas de Morena, called for an armed uprising to defend her father's "victory" and said:

"We have constituted a revolutionary command to take power. The country is on the verge of civil war. Zero hour has come to begin the fight."

Lleras said he had the complete backing of the armed forces and the police. He said the state of siege will be in effect indefinitely.

He denied Rojas's charges that the election was rigged but said he was appointing a commission to check the election returns.

Rojas's Popular National Alliance party announced plans for massive demonstrations today to paralyze Bogota "by force if necessary."

Many Varieties Of Foodstuffs Removed From Shelves In U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. government has initiated the voluntary removal from the market of 13,900 servings of a well-known soup mix because of the danger of food poisoning.

Also since January, it has spurred industry recalls of 334,000 pounds of popcorn packed by a Milford, Ill., firm; of 24,000 nationally-distributed frozen strawberry pies manufactured by a Columbus, Ohio, baker; and of 2,000 cases of a name-brand candy. All were contaminated with insect or rodent material, or both.

Other food items recalled in the past three months because of contamination include dried eggs, anchovies, noodles, raisins, frozen fried chicken, peanut butter, pimientos, pizzas and cooked mushrooms.

The recalls never are totally successful, says a spokesman for the U.S. Food and Drug Administration. Some of the products are purchased and consumed. The agency can't say how many.

COVER 40 PER CENT
The National Academy of Sciences says FDA inspectors only 40 per cent of the 64,000 interstate food-processing plants subject to federal checking, and the agency itself estimates that 20 per cent of the plants are in substantial violation of government standards.

The most spectacular recall this year has been the 13,900,000 servings of these nationally distributed, cartoned, Lipton soups: Perky Noodle Soup Mix, Chicken Vegetable Soup Mix, Ring-O-Noodle Soup Mix With Real Chicken Broth, Giggie Noodle Soup With Real Chicken Broth—test marketed in New England only—and Beef Flavor Noodle Soup With Vegetables.

All the soups were contaminated with a bacteria called salmonella that can cause food poisoning.

Lipton is recalling the mixes from retail shelves, but the FDA estimated that between 15 and 20 per cent remained on the market as of last week.

Tuesday night the FDA warned against eating a brand name of prepared pizzas distributed by the Roman Inn Pizza Co. throughout the upper U.S. Midwest.

The FDA said mushrooms in some of the 30,000 "Roman Deluxe Italian Brand" pizzas produced this month are suspected of causing botulism, an acute food poisoning that can be fatal.

White S. Africans Head For Polls

JOHANNESBURG (Reuters) — South Africa's white minority voted today in an election that seemed certain to endorse another five years of apartheid under Prime Minister Vorster.

Vorster, whose National party has ruled since 1948, is confident of retaining all the seats held in the 166-seat House of Assembly and has said "the night of April 22 will be a beautiful night."

The country's silent majority—13,700,000 Africans—watched from a distance, denied a say in the country's future.

The 2,200,000 whites witnessed a bitterly fought campaign, pitting not only white against white but Afrikaner against Afrikaner.

Vorster called the elections a year early, mainly to test the strength of the breakaway extreme right-wing Herstigte (Reconstituted) Nasionale party. Known as the HNP, its presence has led to a rough and rowdy campaign.

In the dissolved House, the Nationalists held 119 seats, the United party 27, the HNP four and the Progressives one. Five seats were vacant.

U.S. Loses Four Planes

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. command announced today the loss of four American planes over the lower panhandle of Laos and three helicopters in South Vietnam. It was one of the highest aircraft tolls reported at one time in the war.

The command said one American was killed, three are missing and three were injured in the crashes.

A total of 6,683 U.S. planes and helicopters worth more than $6,000,000 now have been reported lost in the war.

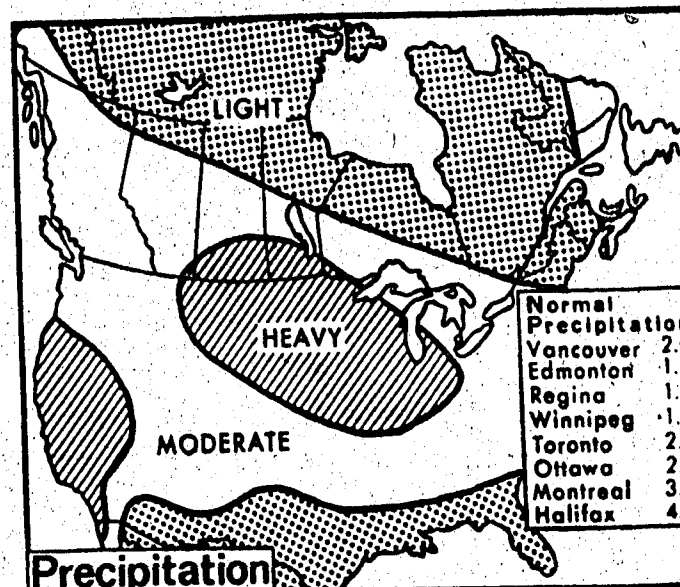

Informal sources said more than 400 American aircraft, mostly fighter-bombers, have been shot down over Laos since 1964. Since the U.S. command began disclosing its aerial losses in Laos March 10, it has reported 23 aircraft lost.

CONTINUE HEAVY RAIDS

The U.S. command announced that B-52 bombers and smaller tactical fighter-bombers kept up heavy raids today along the Ho Chi Minh trail. U.S. fighter-bombers also continued attacks on North Vietnamese forces threatening Laotian government troops near the Plain of Jars in north-central Laos.

The B-52s also made some of their heaviest raids of the war on targets in South Vietnam, dropping some 1,500 tons of bombs from just south of the demilitarized zone to within 26 miles of Saigon. The raids near Saigon were the closest to the capital in 4½ months and shook buildings in the city.

In the major ground action reported, a 2,000-man South Vietnamese force that crossed the Cambodian border Monday for a sweep of Viet Cong-North Vietnamese base camps reported that it had killed 187 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese and seized more than 800 weapons.

WEATHER FORECAST

Above-normal temperatures are expected in most of the Prairie provinces and northern Ontario in the next 30 days, according to the long-range forecast of the United States weather bureau. Below-normal readings are forecast for the Maritimes and southern British Columbia. Precipitation will be light in Quebec and other northern parts of Canada and moderate in most other areas. The outlook is not a specific forecast and changes may occur.

British Couple Found Slain In Home South Of Kuala Lumpur

KUALA LUMPUR (AP) — A British naval chief petty officer and his tall attractive wife were both found dead with gunshot wounds Monday in their home in Hohore Bahr, 180 miles south of Kuala Lumpur.

Police hurried to the couple's home after neighbors reported having heard three shots. They found ash-blond Sharon Lawrence, 28, a former model from Victoria, lying on the floor of the downstairs lounge.

She had been shot twice in the chest.

Her husband, George, 36, a Londoner, was found upstairs sprawled across their double bed with a head wound. He had a shotgun by his side.

The Johore-state criminal investigation chief, Assistant Commissioner X. A. Nicholas, said Tuesday a letter had been left in the bedroom. He declined to disclose its contents.

Three children of Mrs. Lawrence's earlier marriage, Nora, Jimmy and Tammy—all under 10—were being cared for by neighbors and the navy welfare organization.

Lawrence also was married

Quebec's Party Leaders Hammer Hard At Pledges

QUEBEC (CP) — With the Quebec general election seven days away, party leaders continued hammering out their election promises Tuesday, calling for an economically and socially stable Quebec, unattached to federal apron strings.

Premier Jean-Jacques Bertrand says the entry of federal Liberals into the campaign for the April 29 election "would be the best thing" for his Union Nationale party.

He told a news conference in Mont Joli in the Gaspé he would welcome participation by the federal Liberals "because the citizens of Quebec . . . never put all their eggs in the same basket."

Liberal Leader Robert Bourassa said in an interview that the Quebec election is strictly a provincial affair and he is not soliciting the support of the federal Liberals "and I do not anticipate their entry in the campaign."

"I do not wish to comment on rumors, but it would surprise me to see them join in, except on an individual basis."

Published reports earlier this week speculated that federal Liberals, concerned over the apparent rising popularity of the separatist Parti Quebecois, were reconsidering their hands-off attitude.

Meanwhile, Rene Levesque, leader of the separatist Parti Quebecois, told 350 persons jammed into a school basement that "on the day Quebec becomes a country, all its citizens will become legal citizens of Quebec, even if they've only been here three months."

"They'll be Quebecers the same as we are . . . with the same rights, the same benefits, no special privileges."

And Roland Morin, leader of the Quebec New Democratic Party, told a meeting of workers that planned economic development is the main instrument for the cultural and social fulfillment of Quebec.

"Quebecers should first use money that is available in Quebec to develop our economy."

He said: "foreign investment must allow for a sufficient control by a Quebec government . . . and this investment must offer no risk of defeating the objectives of economic independence here."

The NDP has 14 candidates in the election while the Union Nationale, the Liberals and the Parti Quebecois each has a full slate of 108. The Ralliement Creditiste has 99.

Mr. Bertrand later criticized the federal government for paralyzing the Creditistes into the election "to take away votes from the Union Nationale in certain northern ridings."

And, he warned that if the Parti Quebecois took power following the election, a dictatorship would be imposed by it because Rene Levesque is unable to control "varied elements" within its ranks.

He said the intolerance of the separatist party indicates that the Parti Quebecois would abolish democratic liberties . . . "because there really are revolutionary elements in its ranks."

FACTS HELD BACK

Mr. Bourassa also attacked the separatist party at a meeting in Montreal, accusing it of misleading the voters by failing to reveal the problems and the economic consequences of independence.

Later in Quebec City, he reiterated an earlier statement that he would retire if he did not make a substantial dent in unemployment in Quebec.

Mr. Levesque, campaigning in his riding of Montreal Laurier which he first won as a Liberal in 1960, appealed to English-speaking Quebecers to abandon their "old, stupid Liberal ghetto."

More Canadian Firms 'Lean' On Non-Payers

By IRVING C. WHYNOT
Canadian Press Business Editor

More and more Canadian firms are starting to crack down on customers who don't pay their bills on time.

The stakes are high—millions of dollars in accounts receivable. A delay of only a few days on payment means the customer is using his supplier's money for free.

At today's high interest rates, that adds up to a substantial cost to the supplier. The trend now is to enforce interest charges on overdue accounts and bring the money in faster, or cover the cost if payments are late.

Gulf Oil Canada has announced it will charge a one-per-cent service charge on overdue wholesale accounts starting next month. The charge will be effective on bills not paid after 60 days. By late September, Gulf plans to cut the payment period to 30 days.

Imperial Oil started the trend earlier when it imposed a similar one-per-cent service charge on accounts overdue 60 days.

For the oil companies—most of the others are believed studying similar action—the totals involved are huge.

Wholesale customers account for up to 90 per cent of oil company business.

Gulf said high interest rates forced the move.

"With interest rates at present levels, every investment of funds must be carefully controlled—including funds employed in accounts receivable," the company said in a letter to customers.

Union Carbide Canada Ltd. also blamed high money cost when it announced earlier that it was planning to charge interest at 1½ per cent a month after 60 days.

WORST EVER
Eric Burke, general manager of the Canadian Credit Men's Association, says the slow-pay situation is the most severe in memory.

He said those who don't pay on time are forcing the crack down on credit and the additional cost involved could eventually result in higher prices for products.

He said a survey of association members showed close to half taking action to charge interest on delinquent accounts.

He said accounts now are being paid, on the average, in 59.2 days—the longest time lapses since the association started checking such things in 1964.

"If there is an opportunity to take a little extra time without impairing credit ratings, people are going to do it," he said.

U.S. Claim Of $400 Million Unlikely To Be Met By France

PARIS (AP) — A United States claim of nearly $400,000,000 for military facilities left behind when France evicted NATO forces three years ago stands little chance of being honored.

Repeated attempts by U.S. diplomats to collect on the bill, presented 15 months ago, have been politely but firmly rebuffed.

In conversations with the Americans, high French officials have not formally rejected the claim, but in private they made it clear the French government is not prepared to pay.

Beside the U.S. note, there is a similar bill from NATO itself. The two total almost $800,000,000. The bills represent what the United States and its NATO partners consider the "residual value" to France of more than 400 installations built in this country as part of the Western defence system while France was still participating in NATO's military command.

President Charles de Gaulle withdrew France from the command in March, 1966, and gave NATO a year to leave the country. The short-term eviction notice violated a 1957 treaty, NATO contends.

Federal Authorities 'Fail' On Anti-Pollution Tactics

OTTAWA (CP) — Federal authorities have failed to find a way to guarantee that public hearings will be held to frame water management and anti-pollution measures, Resources Minister J. J. Greene said Tuesday.

He left it to a Commons committee to write into the proposed Canada water act a provision for obligatory public hearings.

"I would like you to consider changes of wording intended to make it quite clear that public hearings or other appropriate inputs from those concerned are a vital part of our planning," he told the Commons resources committee.

But, he conceded later at a news conference, the legal draftsmen had been unable to provide for compulsory public hearings without "hamstringing" the officials of water quality management agencies in the performance of their tasks.

"I'm certainly in favor of writing it in," he told reporters after unveiling changes to the proposed act to the committee.

EMPHASIZES NEED
Mr. Greene said the efficient control of waters by federal-provincial water management boards was just as important as guaranteeing public hearings on such things as water quality standards.

Authorization for voluntary hearings was among amendments he placed before the committee.

The changes also will furnish the legislative basis for Mr. Greene's plan to ban phosphates in laundry detergents.

He had promised this step after a report to the International Joint Commission said phosphate nutrients going into lakes Ontario and Lake Erie threatened to choke life through over-stimulation of algae.

Mr. Green reiterated that Aug. 1 detergents must contain no more than 20 per cent by weight of phosphorous pentoxide and by 1972 it must be "near total elimination."

The phosphate amendment goes beyond the detergents issue, enabling the federal cabinet to define a nutrient and prohibit its manufacture or import in any cleaning agent or water conditioner. Maximum penalty is $5,000 and confiscation of goods.

Accused British MP Admits He Was 'Squeezed' Into Spying

LONDON (Reuters) — A member of Parliament accused of betraying secrets to Czechoslovak diplomats was quoted in criminal court Tuesday as saying "they squeezed and squeezed until I finally de-fected."

On trial is William Owen, 69, who until his arrest in January had served 16 years as Labor party MP for the Morpeth district of northern England.

Prosecution counsel Edward Cussen said Owen admitted to the squeezing process during an interview with a visitor in a prison hospital.

Cussen said it proved impossible for Owen to have met all his expenses and still have savings of the size shown in his bank accounts on the basis of his known income.

Owen, said to be suffering from angina, has pleaded not guilty.

The prosecution has claimed he passed on classified information that came to him in his capacity as a member of the House of Commons estimates committee.

Subjects covered in documents to which Owen had access included troop transports, aircraft, naval and army estimates and secret arrangements for the British army in West Germany.

LEGISLATURE SCENE

Heavy Water Plant A Help For Nova Scotia's Economy

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Premier G. I. Smith told the Nova Scotia legislature Tuesday night that construction of the Deuterium of Canada Ltd. heavy water plant at Glace Bay, N.S., poured about $100,000,000 into the province's economy.

His comment came after Liberal Leader Gerald Regan said the people of Nova Scotia want more information before they give any more "blank cheques" for Deuterium which he said will owe the taxpayers $264,158,670 after 20 years.

Mr. Regan was attacking the government decision to go ahead with the rehabilitation of the plant without accepting an opposition resolution for an examination by an independent commission of Canadian businessmen and scientists.

Mr. Smith said Du Pont of Canada Ltd., which did a survey of what it would require to get the plant into operation, as well as Atomic Energy of Canada Ltd., thought the plant would work.

In other provinces: St. John's—A proposed oil refinery to be built at Come-By-Chance will employ about 2,000 men during an 18-to-24-month construction period and cost $155,000,000, the Newfoundland legislature was told.

Toronto—Ontario will not consider obstacles to immigration despite rising unemployment unless "immigration can be seen to be having adverse effects," Premier John Robarts told a questioner. He was asked why Ontario House in London continues to advertise job vacancies while unemployment is rising.

Winnipeg—Attorney-General Al Mackling called "muck-raking" suggestions that there is a conflict of interest between his responsibility for the Manitoba liquor commission and his membership on the board of a pizza firm.

Diphtheria Strikes Twice In Montana

MISSOULA, Mont. (AP) — Two confirmed cases of diphtheria, one involving the death of a 59-year-old man, were reported here by Missoula health officials. They said another person died last week with symptoms similar to diphtheria. Health officer Dr. Kenneth Lampert said two business establishments, both taverns, were closed and disinfected Sunday night by health department workers.

Lampert said a third man died last week with the earmarks of the disease but the health office was awaiting confirmation that diphtheria was the cause.
